Germans Mob U. S. Military Train

MILLION GO OUT ON STRIKE AS FOOD PROTEST

Most of Southern Germany Paralyzed by Walkout in Bavaria.

By The Associated Press

MUNICH, GERMANY, Jan. 23—Hundreds of angry German commuters mobbed American military trains in Munich today as a "hunger" strike by an estimated million Bavarian workers paralyzed most of southern Germany.

Crowds of small shopkeepers and artisans unaffected by the industrial walkout in 26 major cities and scores of smaller towns swarmed around suburban trains running for military personnel only.

Reports from suburban areas of the Bavarian capital said these commuters, trying to get to work, threatened conductors on the military trains and shouted angrily: "We want to work. These well-fed Americans do not have to strike. They can use trains to go to work."

The strike, called by the Bavarian trade union and supported by the Communists, began in Munich at midnight when employes of street car lines and German railways walked off their jobs.

Bavaria Paralyzed

Most of Bavaria was paralyzed by a general strike of up to 1,000,000 workers.

The strike started at midnight and was to last 24 hours. Indications in many areas were that it would continue through Saturday and Sunday. It was the largest mass labor walkout in Germany since the war.

Most cities were reported quiet early today. Railway schedules were haphazard. In some areas local trains ran on schedule. In other areas, there were no trains running.

There were indications that the strike might continue through Saturday, since some workers greeted the walkout as a "fine three-day holiday."

Further trouble was feared in Nuernberg, where 100,000 workers ended a 24-hour strike yesterday. Similar strikes have affected 100,000 in Cologne and another 200,000 in the Ruhr.

In Arnsberg, on the Ruhr river, iron ore miners scheduled a two-hour strike to stress demands for the same rations as coal miners, who have been receiving extra food as an incentive.

Release More Food

In a counter-measure against the protests, the British American bizonal control board has authorized the release of 5,000 tons of imported fats to boost rations of the 40,000,000 western Germans during the coming month.

Control authorities admitted that the normal consumers ration of 1,550 calories a day had not been maintained and in some cases had fallen as low as 1,100 calories.

The control authorities also accepted a German proposal to cut the bread ration from 10,000 grams a month to 9,000 in four states of the western zone and to between 6,500 and 7,500 in the other four states for the next six weeks.

A strike of 6,000 workers continued in Wiesbaden and in Coburg women residents held a "housewives" hunger strike.

March of Dimes Gets Thanks as Little Polio Patient Nears Recovery

By EDNA S. DUTTON

Next Sunday, at Children's hospital in Columbus, a little Marion miss of six summers will have a birthday party. It won't be a party where the guests run and play games, because the celebrant, little Mary Ann Everly, can't invite lots of her little playmates—she has polio and has to lie in bed.

But thanks to the March of Dimes, Mary Ann is well on the road to recovery, her daddy and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Everly of 778 Congress street, will be with her, there will be a birthday cake with candles and gifts. A few special friends will join her, but they can't run and play either, for all are in the hospital's special ward for patients with infantile paralysis.

Mary Ann has been in the hospital since last Sept. 19, just four days after she gave up playing, complained of a headache, something wrong with her stomach and started limping. It was when she started limping that her parents' fears, and those of the doctors, became a reality and she was rushed to the hospital. Infantile paralysis, the doctors said—her back, shoulders, stomach and left leg were affected.

Expected Home Soon

Weeks of treatment and care at the hospital have brought a brighter picture — Mary Ann is coming home soon — well in four weeks or so. And this week, in preparation for taking over where the nurses leave off, Mrs. Everly has begun her instructions in the care of Mary Ann. There is a great deal to learn, but Mrs. Everly isn't afraid of that, she has observed much in her many visits to the hospital and with the practical instructions she will receive in the coming weeks the outlook is most encouraging.

Mary Ann has recovered, the doctors say, with the exception of her left foot and with time and treatment, this too will be normal, they say. She is waiting now for her brace, which will be placed on her leg from her knee to her toes (she's really disappointed because it isn't a larger one like that of another little patient, Jill's).

Mr. and Mrs. Everly can not say enough in the praise of the work of the National Foundation for the Prevention and Cure of Infantile Paralysis, for Mary Ann's treatment and hospitalization are being financed through the March of Dimes.

"It is a Godsend to us and to every one else who are victims of the disease," they say.

Done by March of Dimes

The treatments which have resulted fro mthe research made in the disease and the care and hospitalization through the weeks and months have restored the health of Mary Ann. This, they say, would not have been possible before the March of Dimes campaign was inaugurated 10 years ago.

Mary Ann is looking forward to her homecoming and her reunion with her brothers, Donald 9, Terry 7 and Kevin, one-year old, and Donald and Terry are eagerly awaiting her return. Kevin will have to get acquainted with his sister all over again and she is going to be surprised to find Kevin walking about and sporting much more hair than when she last saw him.

Even though Mary Ann has to remain in bed all the time she has much to keep her entertained. There are moving pictures a couple of times a week, the toy wagon visits her room many times, meal trays hold pleasant little surprises in the way of decorations and attendants entertain with story hours. Then, there are the visits of Daddy and Mother, even though they are short. (Visiting hours are limited.) Mary Ann's conversation is all about the family—what the boys are doing, how do they look, where the furniture is placed in the rooms, where mother puts her gifts when she takes them home. She recently wanted to know "if her doctors were still worrying about her."

Visited by Santa

Mr. and Mrs. Everly spent a part of Christmas day with their daughter, and Santa made several visits to her and her little friends before and on Christmas day.

Perhaps the worst time of all for Mary Ann and her parents were her first 10 days in the hospital when she was placed in isolation. Mr. and Mrs. Everly visited the hospital but could only go to the door. Tears flowed aplenty when Mary Ann couldn't understand why Daddy and Mother couldn't come to her bedside when the nurses could, and they in turn couldn't make her understand that they loved her but were not allowed to go into her room.

But Mary Ann will be home again one of these days soon, and then what a reunion.

Mrs. Everly will be heard in an interview on the March of Dimes broadcast over WHBC tonight from 6:30 to 6:45 as a part of the local campaign in the interest of the national campaign for contributing the dimes and carrying on research to stamp out infantile paralysis.

Showdown on Russia Called by Churchill

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Jan. 23—Winston Churchill declared today western Europe must unite quickly and demand a showdown with Moscow before the Russians develop atomic weapons, possible in a year or so.

"I believe the best chance of preventing war is to bring matters to a head and come to a settlement with the Soviet government before it is too late," Churchill told the house of commons.

"You may be sure the present situation cannot last. There are very grave dangers in letting everything run on and pile up until something happens and the matter passes all of a sudden out of your control."

The Conservative party leader indorsed the Labor government's proposal for unification of western Europe as a barrier to the spread of communism. But he appealed to his political opponents to rise above party in fostering the plan:

"In trying to make a United Socialist Europe, you are on the same level as trying to make a United Communist Europe."

Backs Bevin Plan

Speaking in foreign affairs debate initiated yesterday by Bevin, who loosed the Labor government's sharpest attack yet on the Soviet Union, Churchill declared:

"We welcome everything which was said by the foreign secretary about the more intimate relations we should keep with France, the Benelux countries (Belgium, The Netherlands, Luxembourg) and, I presume, with Switzerland, if she should wish it, and also with Italy."

Churchill called for speedy action to implement the Bevin policy and urged that it be kept above party politics.

"Let us try to place this above party and bring the personalities of anxious states and nations as a whole into the larger harmony on which their future prosperity and, indeed, their life, may well depend," he declared.

Churchill himself launched a campaign for a United Europe about a year ago, after he returned from the United States, where he called for a close British-American alliance in a speech at Fulton, Mo.

Now Accepted Policy

Commenting on Bevin's declaration yesterday, Churchill observed that "what I said at Fulton

TRAIN ON ERIE IS DERAILED

7 Cars of Eastbound No. 8 Leave Track at Elgin, O.

Eastbound Erie passenger train No. 8, due in Marion at 4:11 a. m., was derailed at Elgin, O., 71 miles west of here, early today, The Associated Press reported.

Erie spokesmen reported that three persons were believed injured. The Associated Press dispatch stated none of the injured were serious.

A broken rail was reported to have caused the accident.

Fifty-six passengers were taken to Lima by bus for transfer to other trains. One was reported to have suffered a sprained ankle.

A relief train carrying many of the passengers of the wrecked train went through Marion this morning at 9:30.

The seven derailed cars remained upright after leaving the rails but tore up the double tracks for some distance, forcing the rerouting of traffic The Associated Press reported.

The Marion Erie wrecking crew and an additional crew from Huntington, Ind., were at work to clear and repair the tracks but service was not expected to be restored for 36 hours.

The train was enroute from Chicago to New York. Erie trains were rerouted over tracks of the Pennsylvania line during the emergency.

Supt. Mills' Condition Reported Improved

D. T. Mills, superintendent of the Marion county schools, who is ill of pneumonia in the City hospital, is reported to be improved today. Mr. Mills, who was stricken first with pleurisy, was admitted to the hospital Jan. 17.

SAYS PAULEY USED "INSIDE" INFORMATION

Stassen Charges "Off the Cuff" Remarks Led to Grain Trade Profits.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23—Harold E. Stassen declared today Edwin W. Pauley made $40,175 profit on two grain transactions following a speech by Secretary of Agriculture Anderson which depressed the market.

Stassen told a senate appropriations subcommittee inquiring into Pauley's trading that Pauley took advantage of an "off the cuff" talk by Anderson on Sept. 19 in which Anderson said that grain prices were not realistic.

"These statements, which of course were not correct, caused a temporary drop in grain prices," Stassen said.

Pauley Responds

He made the statement only a few minutes after Pauley pointed a finger at Stassen and demanded that the Republican presidential aspirant be required to confront him "right here, face to face, on the falsehoods he has told about me."

"We are going to give you an opportunity to be heard," Chairman Ferguson (R-Mich) said.

"Today?" Pauley demanded.

"We are going to give you an opportunity to be heard," Ferguson said again.

Since last September, Pauley has been a special assistant to Secretary of the Army Royall. He has acknowledged making nearly a million dollars profits by speculation on commodities in the last three years.

Denies "Inside" Help

But Pauley has heatedly denied he ever had any "inside" government information useful in speculation, and has taken offense at Stassen's public charges of profiting by government "insiders."

The senate committee called both men before it, but has ruled that Pauley may not question Stassen directly. It will allow him to submit in writing later questions to be asked Stassen.

The bulk of the Pauley profits which Stassen traced to the Anderson talk came from the purchase of 100,000 bushels of wheat. Stassen said he held it for nine days and reaped a profit of $33,475.

He also bought 100,000 bushels of oats futures on the same day, Sept. 22, and sold it Nov. 12 at a profit of $6,700, Stassen asserted.

He said the purchases followed closely an informal talk by Anderson at Chicago in which he said "if the public finally becomes aware of the facts about this year's wheat crop, the bottom would drop out of the market."

Stassen quoted Anderson as saying "we've plenty of wheat."

GENERAL EISENHOWER

SEVERE COLD WHIPS NATION

Brings 2nd Gas Emergency to Ohio; Temperature Hits 1 Below Here.

The severe cold wave which whipped across the country yesterday, following the pattern of last week's icy blasts, dipped Marion thermometers to one below last night with little let-up in sight for several days. A forecast of "fair and cold tonight; Saturday generally fair and cold," was issued today by the Columbus weather bureau. The high reading for the period between 8 a. m. yesterday and the same hour today stood at 18. A year ago, the high was 32 and the low five above.

With the new cold wave came the declaration of a second public emergency in the use of fuel by the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. Because of the acute shortage of gas, an urgent appeal is being made by the gas company to all people to be sparing in the use of gas, Charles E. Sechrist, manager of the Marion office, said today. Gas service has been curtailed to all industries using more than 25 thousand cubic feet of gas per day.

Actress Taken Ill in Columbus

Kay Francis in Hospital; Hold Stage Manager for Investigation.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 23—Kay Francis, the actress, became seriously ill under mysterious circumstances today and her stage manager, Howard Graham, 37, was booked at police headquarters "for investigation of assault to kill."

Kay Francis

Miss Francis and Graham were here with the stage production, "State of the Union."

Miss Francis was removed early today from her Deshler-Wallick hotel room to White Cross hospital, which described her condition as "just fair." She was still unconscious several hours after her arrival there.

Graham, taken into custody at the hospital, told police Miss Francis summoned him to her hotel room and said she had taken some sleeping tablets. She had been severely burned, he added, when she fell against a radiator.

Detective Karl Hamm and Police Sgt. Carl Clifton said they found evidence of a "wild party" in the hotel room.

Dr. M. Russell, a specialist in internal medicine who attended the 43-year-old star of the screen and stage, declined to identify the nature of her illness.

Officer Clifton and Graham refused to submit to a urinalysis to determine whether he had been drinking and quoted him as adding:

"I'm not drunk anything."

"You're not the right one," Clifton told Graham. "You're in jail."

"You can't arrest me," the manager replied, but was taken to [illegible]

NOT AVAILABLE AS CANDIDATE, HE DECLARES

Writes New Hampshire Booster in Regard To Entry in Primaries.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23—General Dwight D. Eisenhower said flatly today: "I am not available for and could not accept nomination to high political office."

The army chief of staff's statement referred to entry of his name in the New Hampshire presidential primary March 9.

"Ike" wrote Leonard V. Finder, publisher of the Manchester Union-Leader, that for two reasons he had heretofore "refrained from making the bald statement that I would not accept nomination."

The first, Eisenhower said, was that such an expression would "smack of effrontery."

Deeper Reason

A second and deeper reason, the general added, was a "persistent doubt that I could phrase a flat refusal without appearing to violate that concept of duty to country which calls upon every good citizen to place no limitations upon his readiness to serve in any designated capacity."

In this connection, Eisenhower said it is his conviction that "unless an individual feels some inner compulsion and special qualifications to enter the political arena—which I do not—a refusal to do so involves no violation of the highest standards of devotion to duty," he continued:

"It was only the possible misinterpretation of my attitude that caused me concern and so long as I could believe that mere denial of political ambition would prevent serious misunderstanding and misdirected effort, I was reluctant to say more."

"It would seem almost superfluous for me to add that as long as I live I shall hold myself in instant readiness to respond to any call by the government to military duty."

Split on Wallace

Eisenhower is scheduled to go on terminal leave from the Army around Feb. 15 and in June will become president of Columbia university.

In another political development, the CIO split politically over Henry Wallace's third party bid for the presidency.

The executive board of the labor organization which gave solid support to help elect the late President Roosevelt to a fourth term in 1944 voted 33 to 11 to reject Wallace's entry into the 1948 campaign as "politically unwise."

And the dissident group—representing about 1,250,000 of the organization's claimed 6,000,000 membership—gave every indication of plugging for Wallace anyway.

Harry Bridges, president of the International Longshoremen's Union and leader of the so-called left-wing element which opposed the anti-Wallace resolution, told reporters the Democrats won't stand "the chance of a snowball in hell" of electing President Truman in November.

Prior to Eisenhower's formal statement "stop-Eisenhower" talk has cropped up in Republican circles. But there is almost no indication that the major candidates for the GOP presidential nomination can get together—even behind the scenes.

FACTORY GETS NEW FIRE SAFETY SYSTEM

Universal Cooler Installs Enlarged Modern Equipment.

An enlarged and modernized system of fire protection, installation of which has been under way for the last four months at the Universal Cooler Corp. plant, was placed into operation Thursday afternoon.

Company officials witnessed a test run marking completion of the installation program. The huge project included installation of an enlarged automatic sprinkler system, a new series of automatically controlled alarm equipment and construction of a system of underground water piping in a loop system through the plant hydrants.

The test run Thursday was observed by Army engineers from the Marion depot interested in large area fire protection systems.

D. T. Cress, of the Globe Automatic Sprinkler company of Philadelphia, which made the installation, said the Universal Cooler project was the largest to have been completed in the Marion area.

A crew ranging from eight to 20 men under the direction of Mr. Cress and company maintenance supervisors began work Oct. 1.

In Plain Words

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON — ...s been talk of making ... American work week ... from the present 40 hours ... not likely to happen. ... federal law now, called ... labor standards act. Con... ...ed it in 1938. It's the ... week law. ... this act workers in most ... must get paid over... ...ne rate of time-and-a... ... every hour worked over ... a week. ... doesn't say a man can't ... more than 40 hours a week. ... only that a man must be ... ...time for every hour over ...

... ers and unions can agree anytime they wish, to work 45 or 50 hours a week — provided the boss pays that overtime rate. Congress tried to wipe out the 40-hour week and say men must work 44 or 45 hours before getting overtime, labor might react strongly.

James Marlow

Last spring Bernard M. Baruch, adviser to presidents, suggested this country go on a 44 hour week

And Charles E. Wilson, head of General Motors, the giant auto-making corporation, has suggested the same thing.

But why a 44-hour week?

The reason given is that, through longer hours worked, more goods might be produced. And, with more goods for sale, prices might come down.

At his news conference yesterday President Truman was asked about the Wilson idea and didn't seem to think much of it.

MR. TRUMAN SAID he was sorry to say that Wilson is living in 1890. He said he prefers a plan by another Charles E. Wilson—he's head of General Electric—who recently cut prices on GE products.

And yesterday William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, said:

If congress would pass laws to control inflation and keep living costs down, then labor might do this:

Agree not to ask for higher wages but, instead, agree to work 45 hours a week. But he didn't mean 45 hours at straight time pay.

He meant only what the present law calls for: 40 hours at regular pay and five additional hours a week at time-and-a-half overtime pay.

WHY DID HE SAY THAT? Because those five extra hours a week, at overtime pay, would boost a worker's total paycheck for the week worked.

(It would mean an increase of about 18 per cent a week.)

Green, of course, could only speak for the AFL. He couldn't speak for the CIO union workers nor for any other unions not connected with the AFL.

Would the Baruch and Wilson idea—a 44-hour week—or Green idea—a 45-hour week—actually get more goods produced.

Maybe. In some business. Not in all. Take the steel industry where the workers belong to the CIO and not to the AFL. CIO people say:

The steel industry is working at almost full capacity. At least it's working 24 hours a day. The workers there work eight-hour shifts, 40 hours a week.

SO HOW WOULD the steel industry be able to turn out any more steel by overlapping its eight-hour shifts and letting the men work nine hours a day?

Or take the automobile industry, where Charles E. Wilson of General Motors is a big figure. In this industry, too, the CIO, not the AFL, has the big unions. CIO men say.

The manufacture of autos is slowed down by a lack of steel for auto bodies, not by a lack of manpower or man-hours worked.

The men there work an eight-hour day. Would putting them on nine hours a day turn out more cars if the steel for making them is till lacking? Or would that just add to the cost of a new car and so help boost prices?

One Man's Opinion

By WALTER KIERNAN

Rep. Hartley says 12 tons of new records were flown into the country last week . . . Apparently Petrillo's air defenses are weak.

But I hear that he has ordered out a detachment of harpists fitted out with arrows for their strings.

Many were agreeably surprised to see Jimmy in television this week but in 3,000 homes piano practice stopped immediately when he leaned out of the screen and shook his finger.

Meanwhile Jimmy is eyeing Mr. Truman as a potential member of his union and for once Taft and Hartley didn't chorus, "He doesn't have to join if he doesn't want to."

* * *

They will defend to the last comma the right of a citizen to play free enterprise piano but he must not be the Democratic presidential candidate or he's on his own.

Bucyrus P.-T.A. Seeks School Traffic Safety

BUCYRUS — Demanding more adequate traffic protection for school children of the central building spokesmen representing the Central P.-T. A. appeared before city council Tuesday night.

Spokesman Mrs. Frank Nolan urged that council take steps to stop traffic at Roger street while school children are arriving or leaving the building. Other traffic protection on streets adjoining the building was also requested.

Farmers Unload After Soybean Price Break

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS — Farmers holding soybeans in the hope of a continued rise in the market price rushed their crop to the elevators Wednesday as prices took a 20 cent drop after spiraling upward for the last two weeks. After reaching the unprecedented price of $4.30 Tuesday the beans dropped to $4.10 Wednesday. Wheat also declined from $3.04 to $2.96.

Egg prices continued to drop in the Bucyrus market, registering a 20 cent decline during the last two weeks. Ungraded eggs brought only 42 cents on the wholesale market Wednesday as compared with 62 cents Jan. 1. Bucyrus spokesmen blamed the rising cost of feed which has caused hatcheries to be hesitant about hatching at the present time, for the oversupply of eggs on today's market.

WYANDOT CLASS SUPPER

An oyster supper was held recently by the Stabilizers' class of the Wyandot Methodist church at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lenard Koch to honor the winners in an attendance contest held during the last three months. Places were laid for 17 members and three guests at tables covered with lace cloths and decorated with lighted centerpieces. Favors were nut cups. The meeting was in charge of Mrs. Koch, and various plans for raising money were discussed. Plans were made for another contest and teams were chosen. Prayer by Mrs. Underwood closed the meeting.

Memoirs a Two-Year Task, Says Hull; Casts New Light on Many Events of Past

By GARNETT D. HORNER
North American Newspaper Alliance Writer.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23—Much time and patience still are necessary to build a secure world peace, in the opinion of Cordell Hull, America's "elder statesman" whose behind-the-scenes story of his 12 tumultuous years as secretary of state will be published serially in The Star beginning Monday.

Mr. Hull showed continued keen interest in the struggle for peace as he sat on a seventeenth-floor sun porch at the Bethesda Naval hospital recently and told of the two-year task of preparing his memoirs for publication.

He warned against losing faith in the United Nations, declaring that "time and patience are necessary" to bring about peace under abnormal conditions.

"We should exercise patience," he said, "and take ample time to develop understanding and trust and friendliness."

In the interview, as in his memoirs, Mr. Hull steered away from specific problems of current controversy. He explained that now at 76 he is "sitting on the sidelines" and, while observing "the general course of affairs and the fundamentals of what goes on," is not able to keep up with details of current problems sufficiently to attempt to advise on their solution.

Contains Revelations

His memoirs, however, are replete with intimate detail throwing new light on many events during his long career in public life.

He has written with refreshing candor about his relations with the late President Roosevelt—which were not always so smooth as appeared on the surface—and such things as the long controversy that led to the resignation of former Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles in telling how American foreign policy was shaped during most of World War II and the years leading up to it.

Installments of his story will appear daily in The Star beginning Monday. These will cover selected high spots of Mr. Hull's complete memoirs which will be published in two volumes by the Macmillan Co. on May 24.

With characteristic patience and careful preparation, Mr. Hull overcame the handicap of ill health to record the full story of his lifetime of public service. He went to unusual lengths to assure that his account of the 12 years he spent as President Roosevelt's secretary of state in particular was comprehensive and revealed the whole truth as it appeared to him about many events that were shrouded in secrecy at the time.

Retired In 1944

Ill health plagued the last months of Mr. Hull's tenure in office on his 73rd birthday—Oct. 2, 1944—he had to quit work. He spent many weeks in the Bethesda Naval hospital, during which time his resignation from the cabinet was announced on Nov. 27.

On his recovery, he began getting together in his apartment at the Wardman Park hotel, and in a basement storeroom there, many of the private documents he would need in the preparation of his memoirs.

Then in January, 1946, he started to work on the monumental task, with the assistance of Andrue Berding, who had come to know Mr. Hull well while "covering" the state department for The Associated Press in the critical 1937-40 period. Mr. Berding had come out of the Army as a lieutenant colonel after serving with the office of strategic services in Italy and with the 12th Army group during which he won the Legion of Merit and six battle stars.

Work on the memoirs was interrupted for a time when Mr. Hull, who had gone back to the Naval hospital for a checkup, suffered a collapse there on Sept. 30, 1946. He was critically ill for a time, but soon began gradually to regain his strength.

Health Favorable Now

Now, Mr. Hull says, he is "doing real well."

"I feel better than I have felt for a considerable time—than for some years," he said, "and I weigh more than in years." He said he now weighs about 185 pounds. When active in public life, his weight generally was around 175.

He still is confined to the hospital, where he has spent all his time since the 1946 collapse, except for occasional brief automobile rides in good weather.

His hospital existence is not confined to a bare room, however. He has to spend a lot of time resting abed, but each day gets up for a while, dresses and walks out to a sun porch overlooking Washington. Much of the work on his memoirs has been done on that porch.

Mr. Hull said he had declined to take any part in current affairs since the San Francisco conference for organization of the United Nations. A delegate to that conference, he offered counsel from his hospital room.

But since then, he said, "I haven't had the strength" to keep up with the details of all the critical problems coming up in the world, and "I wanted to keep busy getting well."

Keeps Informed

He does keep in touch with "the fundamentals of what goes on" through the newspapers, radio and occasional talks with old friends still in public life.

The patience he advises in the struggle for peace is characteristic of Mr. Hull and the way he worked for the founding of the United Nations as a world organization to keep the peace—a task which led President Roosevelt to call him the "Father of the United Nations" and to his winning of the Nobel Peace Prize for 1945.

"The peace movement moves more rapidly at times than at others, depending on whether conditions are normal or abnormal," Mr. Hull observed.

He recalled that the United Nations was set up after "the most mature consideration." Any such movement, he said, "always will be disturbed and sometimes handicapped by efforts of restless, ambitious persons and professional agitators to start some other scheme."

Warns Against Substitute

He warned against trying to substitute for a "perfected plan" like the UN organization something that would be worse, remarking that there are "the usual number of proponents of so-called new ideas which would injure the cause of peace more than they would help it."

As Mr. Hull talked, Mr. Berding waited to go over with him some still-pending matters in connection with publication of his memoirs.

Mr. Hull gave much of the credit for successful completion of the comprehensive work to the assistance of Mr. Berding in helping "to knit things together."

There was a tremendous amount of material to work with. Besides his own personal papers and his recollection of events, Mr. Hull had access to documents still in the state department files.

Two research experts, on leave of absence from the state department, helped to cull out pertinent papers from the official files. They are Louis E. Gates and Mrs. Virginia Fox Hartley.

"Mr. Berding and I knew and understood each other well," Mr. Hull remarked. "We had the same general philosophy. I couldn't have found a better person to help me.

Busy Two Years

"Beginning two years ago, he would come to my apartment every day or two. He would pick out some papers from my boxes in the packing room downstairs, and I would dictate to him what I remembered about things.

"Fortunately, I first covered the important points through the 12 years up to 1944 so that he would be just as familiar as I was with those events."

Mr. Berding would take dictation from Mr. Hull in shorthand during these frequent sessions, which continued through the months Mr. Hull has spent in the hospital except for the period of his critical illness.

It was a laborious process of "knitting things together." After the work got under way, Mr. Hull and Mr. Berding would plan their schedule two or three weeks ahead. They would tell their research assistants that far in advance what period and subject to collect documents about. With these from the official files, and supplementary ones from Mr. Hull's private papers, Mr. Berding would get a certain projected chapter well documented.

Many chapters were rewritten several times in order to make sure they reflected exactly what was in Mr. Hull's mind. The last chapter, in which he essays to give advice to the nation from his rich experience, was rewritten four or five times.

Covers Notable Life Story

The result is 1,800 printed pages presenting a comprehensive story of Mr. Hull's life from his birth in the Tennessee mountains, through his service in the house and senate and as secretary of state, reflecting in its perspective the unusually thorough editorial preparation.

In the installments to be printed in The Star are Mr. Hull's intimate recollections of his efforts to prevent war with Japan, of how Mr. Roosevelt groomed him for the presidency before deciding to run for a third term and of many other behind-the-scenes developments on both the international and domestic fronts.

Global Scene

By DeWitt Mackenzie

That was a shocking picture which British Foreign Secretary Bevin drew in the house of commons yesterday when he charged that Russia is bent on a ruthless drive to dominate the whole European continent and that one-power domination "will inevitably lead to another World War."

There's a terrible finality about a declartion like that, and one wishes that it were possible to avoid such controversial statements. Still, it's dangerous for us not to know the truth about this "cold war," since our very liberties are at stake. That certainly is one thing which impelled Mr. Bevin to speak so bluntly.

MACKENZIE

However, I believe that it was by pure coincidence that Bevin's fiery address came only a few hours after Washington published details of the pre-war dealings between Stalin and Hitler. This story was taken from captured Nazi documents, and has to do with the Russo-German partnership which, among other things, projected the division of eastern Europe between the two countries—facts which this column has referred to more than once in previous articles.

WE ARE ENTITLED TO ASSUME, or so it seems to me, that Washington's release and Secretary Bevin's speech represented concerted action by the two major western powers. One object is to inform the world, not only the democracies but the peoples of the Russian sphere of domination, concerning the true state of affairs. The other would seem to be to impress Moscow that the western allies mean business. Writing of these methods from Washington, John Hightower, as diplomatic reporter, says:

"There are some here in high places who feel that such tactics can do no good and may do considerable harm. But most officials seem convinced that the time has come for unvarnished language. They reason that if there is any merit in the theory that only American power can block Russian domination of Europe, then that power should be openly applied in understandable words as well as action."

Bevin is noted for the bluntness of his speeches but yesterday's broadside at Russia is the heaviest he has delivered in public since he became foreign secretary. One of his thrusts precipitated a scene in the house of commons involving the two Communist members, Willie Gallacher and Philip Piratin. Bevin set them to shouting in protest when he said:

"One of the first objects of Soviet and Communist policy is to prevent the European recovery program from succeeding. But I do not see why I should be a party to keeping Europe in chaos and distress."

IT WASN'T MADE CLEAR just why the two Reds should have protested this, in view of the fact that the Bolshevists have publicly proclaimed that they are out to defeat the Marshall plan.

Bevin also announced plans for a union of the nations of western Europe to face the Russian drive for control of the whole continent. He declared that the time is ripe for the consolidation of western Europe, and disclosed that Britain already has initiated talks with Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg. Futhermore Britain's alliance with France will be tightened and Italy and other countries will be brought into "this great conception."

So it would seem that the mills of the western democracies are begining to grind full speed.

Bounty on 91 Foxes Paid in Crawford Co.

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS — Crawford county commissioners paid out $365.50 in fox and crow bounties in 1948. County Auditor Frederick Klein reported today. During the year 91 foxes were killed for which $273 was paid in bounties and 370 crow destroyed. Three dollars is allowed in fox bounty and 25 cents for crows.

Largest fox bounty was paid in February to E. E. Smith who collected $30 for 10 animals. Tom Nedolast of New Washington was paid $18.75 in June for 75 birds destroyed.

ERIE MEN SOLVE CLEARANCE PROBLEM

Special to The Star

CLEVELAND, Jan. 23 — The Erie Railroad has long specialized in handling high and wide rail shipments because its clearance through cuts, under bridges and other restricted places are greater than any other railroad operating between New York and Chicago.

In the old days the Erie was a broad gauge railroad (6 ft.) which was changed in 1880 to the standard 4 ft. 8 in., but the high and wide clearances have been retained.

But last week the Erie clearance engineers had a problem on their hands when the railroad handled a mobile oil derrick, moving from Torrance, Calif., to New York for export shipment. The derrick measured too high by one inch to clear two overhead bridges—one at Binghamton, N. Y. and the other at Croxton, N. J. When it comes to railroad clearance, one inch makes a whale of a difference.

The trip east from Chicago to Hornell, N. Y. presented no problem. But handling it east of there had them worried. When it reached Hornell the ingenious clearance men and car repair forces knew they had the problem licked when they let the air out of the rubber tires on the high end of the oil derrick, which reduced the height 1½ inches or just enough to clear the bridges at Binghamton and Croxton. The derrick reached its destination safe and sound.

A Pair of Brass Tacks

BETWEEN them, Bernard M. Baruch and Herbert Hoover have got down to the brass tacks of European aid—how to give it and, at the same time, how to conserve America's own economic stability.

It's too bad the only living former chief executive and the man who was adviser to the two Democratic presidents in this century so far couldn't have pooled their judgment in a bipartisan report as an example to all others trying to keep the issue out of partisan politics.

Mr. Hoover's testimony is valuable chiefly for two points it contains. He wants to be sure that the volume of export and finance proposed do not destroy the strength of the "one remaining source of aid to a world in chaos." And he wants a distinction between charity and genuine loans—a distinction that never was made under lend-lease. "I do not believe we should be called upon to make gifts or grants of steel and other capital goods," he declares. "They can be paid for out of the increased productivity which they create." His purpose here, as in his other suggestions, is "to reduce the burden upon our citizens and at the same time to assure the accomplishment of our national purpose."

That is, of course, the purpose of all who believe the risk of using American wealth to help other peoples is worth taking. If European aid succeeds, it will be because the best minds of the nation are able to understand its implications as clearly as Mr. Baruch and Mr. Hoover have understood them.

Give It To Them Good

THE state department's decision to publish details of the Soviet-Nazi alliance of 1939 revives a subject the Communists and their fellow travelers would be happier if the world forgot. The pictures of Molotov and Hitler fraternizing, of Ribbentrop and Stalin sharing a convivial bottle of vodka, go a long way toward nullifying Communist denunciations of fascism.

Russia didn't terminate the Moscow-Berlin alliance. Germany did. By their every statement and action in the early days of the treaty, the men in the Kremlin indicated they were planning to share the spoils of war with Germany. But, like many another bandit before him, Hitler decided not to share the loot and tried to do in his own chums. That's when the Communists and the fascists had a falling-out. Russian leaders were eager to share the Nazis' bloody loot until Hitler turned on them. Until then, the American Communists and their stooges were happy to promote the Nazi cause by picketing with signs reading, "The Yanks are not coming."

All the idealistic talk emanating from the Kremlin is discredited by the Communists' disgraceful alliance with Hitler at a time when they thought it would advance their cause. Those whom the Communists would convert should never forget it. The free nations of the western world should never let Russia forget it.

Interstate Something

BILLS to standardize marriage and divorce laws have become common in congress since a New Jersey dicision threw doubt on the validity of Reno divorces. Bills now before congress range from Senator Capper's proposal to apply the Kansas law on weddings throughout the country to Senator McCarran's proposal to nationalize the Reno method of obtaining divorces.

One suggestion to settle the matter is a federal law saying marriages may not be annulled nor divorces granted except under the laws of the state in which the marriage was performed. Such a law of course, would have to provide for full recognition by all states of judgments granted by all other states before its passage and if anyone questions the power of congress to legislate in this field, it can be pointed out that divorce is now interstate commerce; at least it's interstate something.

An American Foreign Legion

TO ALLEVIATE the shortage of troops for occupation duty, Senator Lodge has introduced a bill authorizing the Army to enlist aliens—50,000 at first and at no time more than 15 per cent of the total Army. Such enlistees would become eligible for citizenship after five years. "We should gain some useful citizens by this process," Senator Lodge says.

Because of the failure of the recruiting system to attract sufficient enlistees, the Army is more than 60 per cent below the proposed minimum strength of five divisions, plus occupation troops. Such a bill would go a long way toward solving the personnel problem and would relieve the Army of the necessity of sending 18-year-olds overseas.

A foreign legion has served the French satisfactorily in Africa for many years, and in the War of the Revolution we had the services of such distinguished aliens as Steuben, Pulaski, Kosciusko and Lafayette. The proposed bill has merit, especially in view of the fact that aliens already are doing guard duty for the Army at many places in the American zone.

In 1940, the average value per enrolled pupil of school property in the United States was $300, but the range was from $80 in Tennessee to $853 in the District of Columbia.

Scanning the Record

By George E. Sokolsky

Interpreting Baruch's View of Marshall Plan.

BERNARD BARUCH'S program for world and American recovery, a counsel of perfection, which, if taken as a whole, provides a prophecy of austere optimism, is, in reality, beyond the compass of those responsible for government here or in any other country. Its strength is its objective assertion of brutal facts; its weakness is its total avoidance of the political realities of the current situation. He speaks like Isaiah, with about as much chance of being listened to.

SOKOLSKY

For what in essence he proposes is that mankind stop their "incredible follies" which destroyed earlier civilization." He states the problem that faces us and the world succinctly:

"Can it be done without wrecking ourselves? Yes, but only if the European peoples will help themselves and if the American people are prepared to do what needs to be done."

He then makes the point that money aid will not suffice; there must be skillful administration. There must be moderation, self-restraint and sacrifice. And that must be all-around. There, of course, is the rub. What Baruch means is not only that people collectively should be self-sacrificing but that each individual in our western world should assume the responsibility of work, production and thrift. These, he says, can save the world. But such austerity is unpalatable to a mankind reared on the pie-in-the-sky of Socialism and the New Deal. Too much of mankind for too long have been told that heaven-on-earth means higher wages and less work. Both Truman and Wallace are advocating that now. Everybody in Europe advocated it for years.

Always Considerate

Baruch might have said that. He might have put his finger on the cursed blight in thought of the New Deal, of Blumism in France, of Keynesian economics in England. He might have named the engineers of our confusion. But Baruch is always gentle with individuals, even in this document in which he utterly and completely damns the Marshall plan, but loving Marshall, does it in such a manner that it looks like an endorsement.

How can what Baruch says be an endorsement of the Marshall plan when he loads it down with political impossibilities and imponderables? His program of 11 points opens questions that cannot be solved for years. Let us consider a few items:

▶ True, the United States needs to stockpile raw materials. But in what amounts over how many years and by what methods? Are we to engage in a barter economy? Is the government to continue to be the principal purchasing agent for the American people in foreign trade? Is all foreign trade to be conducted by treaty and not by commerce? Is foreign trade to become an instrument of foreign policy? May countries dump their surpluses upon us?

▶ He wants the President's tariff authority extended for an additional three years. But we are about to consider the results of the Geneva and Havana conferences at which American industry may have been—as some say—sacrificed to European industry. Certainly, if the Marshall plan is to wait until the debate on the international trade organization (ITO) agreements and resolutions have been completed, there will be a new congress and a different president in this country.

▶ He proposes a defense union. This is in keeping with Secretary Forrestal's proposal that we ring the world with American bases. Maybe that is good. But the countries that border on Russia will be fearful of reprisals and other countries will look to their sovereignty, as even tiny Panama did so recently. This is a very tall and dangerous question. Can the Marshall plan wait for its solution?

▶ He proposes that the United States guarantee a multiple group of countries against aggression. Such guarantees usually produce wars, for what is involved in a definition of aggression. Are the activities of, Togliatti in Italy Markos in Greece, Thorez in France, Mao Tze-tung in China, aggression? Are we to go to war because of them? We should be constantly at war under any definition of aggression—particularly if we guaranteed weak, backward and border peoples against their neighbors. Must we be at war forever? Maybe that is what the last war meant for us. But is so, let us speak the truth.

Had He Rather Be Coy Than President?

Through his press representative, Governor Dewey has announced that "if nominated, he will accept."

That is a surprise like clams in chowder.

Available? Heck, he's anxious. Barkis was willing but Dewey is eager.

Well does Mr. Dewey realize that this is leap as well as election year. And faint heart never won delegates fair.

In politics as elsewhere, the shrinking violet usually ends up a wall-flower. And he who doesn't blow his own horn gains favor with no one except possibly Petrillo.

Still, it does seem strange that we are rapidly approaching the time when all civilians will have volunteered and only the military men will be standing around waiting to be drafted.

Want To Buy a Chapel?

By Jane Eads

THE Army says 471 surplus Army and Air Force chapels used on military installations during the war have been sold by the War Assets Administration and that 150 more may shortly be declared surplus.

The chapels, sold at an average price of $1,400, have made seating accomodations available to at least 125,000 church-goers and provided places for worship for religious groups in all parts of the nation.

The chapels which are being sold are of two types, one seating 200 and the other 350. Interested persons should call or write the nearest office of the War Assets Administration.

Along with disposal of the chapel, the Army; through the office of the chief chaplain, figures there's going to be a shortage soon of those sterling individuals who during war years "praised the Lord and passed the ammunition."

The chaplain's office says it could use at least 300 chaplains overseas and on the U. S. Figures on V-J day show 8,141 Army chaplains were on duty all over the world. Today this number has dropped to an estimated 1,000.

Chaplains were appointed during the war on an allotment basis set up by the Secretary of War, according to religious census figures of that date.

From December, 1941 through August, 1945 the chaplains conducted a total of 5,436,296 religious services with an attendance of close to 330,000,000.

Statistics show that as of Aug. 28, 1947, chaplains killed in action numbered 83; killed as prisoners of war, 15; died while detained by the enemy, four. Non-battle deaths totalled 86; wounded in action, 261; prisoners of war returned to military control 37.

The Navy during peak war years had approximately 3,000 reserve and regular chaplains, now has 423 on active duty and seeks 35 more for regular duty.

You Can't Beat the Dutch

Netherlands Railways Recover from Nazi Havoc.

BEFORE the war, the Netherlands railway system was one of the finest in the world. High-speed passenger trains and fast freights moved over a highly electrified system which was the pride of all the Dutch.

When the Germans invaded, the 30,000 Dutch railroaders went underground. For seven months the Germans waited, hoping they would return. But when it became apparent they never would cooperate, the Germans began systematic destruction of the railways. Seventy per cent of the bridges were destroyed—and in Holland there are hundreds of railroad bridges. Other losses: 84 per cent of locomotives, 94 per cent of passenger cars, 98 per cent of all freight cars, 99 per cent of electric trains, and 62 per cent of the railbed.

Aso soon as the country was cleared of Germans, the vast job of rebuilding was started. Today all the bridges are restored and depots have been rebuilt. But there is still much to be done, especially in replacing rolling stock and electrification. Two booklets published by the Netherlands Railways shows the remarkable restoration job which has been carried out since V-E Day. They also show the urgent need for the supplies to complete the task.

The Marshall plan will play an important part in restoring the Netherlands Railways. The Dutch have the know-how and the initiative. What they need now, one of the booklets concludes, "is the cooperation of our Allied friends. From them we should like to buy all those materials we need for building: Steel, iron, glass and wood, engines and upholstery. Nowhere could the famous words of Churchill be more appropriate: 'Give us the tools and we will finish the job'."

Daily Bible Thought

Some of us have done evil things when we know better. We should start over on a path we know very well to be well established in long human experience. Then our souls will find rest.—Jer. 6:16: "Stand ye in the ways and see, and ask for the old paths, where is the good way; and walk therein, and ye shall find rest for your souls."

Words of the Wise

Whatever is unjust is contrary to the divine will; and from this it follows that no true and abiding happiness can be gained by those who are unjust.—Stretch.

Open Proposal

From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Sunday, Jan. 23, 1938. C. H. Hobson and Richard Kissell escaped "without a scratch" in a boiler explosion that damaged a filling station at Hill and South Prospect street. They attributed their luck to the fact that the door was open and permitted most of the force of the explosion to spend itself in the open.

Burr Finnell, 65, vice president and secretary-treasurer of the Bunkle Co., widely-known manufacturer of cakes and candies, died at his home in Kenton.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Lester Kramer of near Marion and a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. John F. Harrison of East Center street.

Mrs. Helen B. Hildreth, Marion Girl Scout director, left for a two weeks' stay at Camp Julia Crowell, the Cleveland Girl Scout camp at Everett, near Akron.

"Those who believe need have no fear," Rev. J. L. Poe, pastor of the Agosta M. E. church, told his audience in his closing evangelistic service at Wesley M. E. church. His sermon topic was "Judgment."

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Monday, Jan. 23, 1928. Springlike weather which arrived the preceding day, brought relief from a cold wave promised by the weatherman and was scheduled to prevail for several days. Rain was predicted later in the week.

Robert Elliott, editor of the Quiver Junior, Harding High school's weekly publication, was chosen president when the Press club, an organization composed of students of the journalism class, was formally organized. John Waddell was elected vice president, Miss Eleanor Pfeiffer, secretary and Miss Genevieve Stowe, treasurer.

Mrs. John Davis Sage of Cincinnati was a guest soloist on the program of the Marion Lecture-Recital club at Hotel Harding.

Martin Verberg, excutive secretary at the Y. M. C. A. for four years, presented his resignation at a meeting of the board of directors.

Miss Dorothy Bush was hostess to members of the Queen Esther society of Epworth M. E. church at her home on Summit street.

Mrs. E. L. Cole was elected president at the organization meeting of the Just Right club at the home of Mrs. C. W. Swisher on Chestnut street.

Dewey and Eisenhower

By Raymond Moley

THREE weeks ago, it was reported in this column that Thomas E. Dewey was playing possum; that he was permitting other candidates to extend themselves in the hope that there might be no concerted action to stop him. It may be added now that this interpretation has been verified since on excellent authority.

Dewey's ultimate intentions were a foregone conclusion. But he conceived the wisest policy to be qualified indifference. He has not been exceedingly anxious. He felt that an unseemly scramble for the nomination might destroy the value of the nomination itself. It ought to be the part of all candidates to see, first, that nothing is done to endanger party success and then to seek the opportunity to be the beneficiary of that success.

MOLEY

Dewey's announcement was inevitable. Its timing was probably set ahead by circumstances since the first of the year. The Eisenhower movement is a fresh new political phenomenon. It is attracting people who like to follow new styles. To be for Eisenhower is a sort of political new look. Within a few blocks of where this is written are two different alleged Eisenhower headquarters. The several general headquarters have no general and no head. The quarters presumably will flow in later.

Time for Go Ahead Signal

Dr. Gallup's poll indicates that Eisenhower is now favored over Truman in New York by more people than favor Dewey over Truman. Eisenhower movements are springing up everywhere. Dewey may well have been moved to give the green light a few weeks earlier because of this movement. He now joins Taft, Stassen and Warren in making a bid for the nomination of his party. Like the other candidates, Dewey has served that party well by distinguished labors in government and in politics.

With no disparagement to the general, it must be added that he has not so served the Republican party. Whether he is a Republican at all is an enigma locked in a mystery. All we know is that some one who has never met Eisenhower has said he is sure that Eisenhower is a Republican.

It is only accurate to say that the selection of a candidate is a responsibility of party members and leaders. If we believe in parties, we must grant them the right to select candidates. It is the party that suffers from its mistakes. Hence, the legitimacy of the Stassen, Taft, Warren and Dewey candidacies.

Time for Decision Near

General Eisenhower should decide soon (a) whether he is a Republican; (b) whether he is a candidate. Then he must dedetermine and tell the public who among these Eisenhower boomers are his approved and chosen representatives. They are obviously not unified. Nobody knows whether any one headquarters knows the people in any other headquarters. It is not even clear whether all of these people are Republicans.

A man of Eisenhower's assured fame and stature should not permit this situation to continue. You, a good citizen, might want Eisenhower to be president. But what would you say if an "I want Ike" worker came to your office asking for a contribution? I suspect you would first ask whether the general had approved the movement. At this moment, the answer would have to be that the general had not. Then you would probably ask, "Who are you?" No doubt, some of the current Eisenhower "movements" are similar to one which sought in 1942 to substitute Wendell Willkie for Dewey as candidate for governor by putting an ad in the personal columns of New York papers.

A Right Way To Do It

Eisenhower can not afford this kind of candidacy, nor can the party afford to be thus stampeded. Eisenhower is entitled to be a candidate, but the suitable way to conduct a candidacy is through well-known, responsible and experienced Republican leaders.

Meanwhile, the Dewey candidacy is better in the open. May the best man be selected.

Pidgin Talk

The London Evening Standard has published the following account in pidgin English of the royal wedding which, it said, has been circulated among the natives at Lae, New Guinea:

"Good news e come up long England. Long Friday twentieth November, number one picci ninni belong king beyong you and me King George VI long England e marry. All e save e long this feller king all time e come up long house picture now you and me stand up.

"Now number one piccininni belong e marry. Im e got two piccininni, Misses Princess Elizabeth now Princess Margaret Rose.

"No Princess Elizabeth in e got marry long one feller man name belong Duke of Edinburgh. All e hurrah much long this feller princess."

CROSSTOWN By Roland Coe

The Once Over

"Tell Me, Where Is Beauty Bred?"

A POPULAR song—don't ask which one, as I am trying to forget it—mentions Lana Turner, Betty Grable and Dorothy Lamour as the zenith of American beauty. On most radio programs featuring funny men, it is standing operating procedure to depict this same triad of dryads, plus Hedy Lamarr and one or two others, as having all the attributes of Circe, Lorelei, Helen of Troy and Venus de Milo, plus hair-dos by Sidney Guilaroff.

Count me among the dissidents, please. Woman doth not live by pancake makeup alone. There isn't an American city of any size that doesn't have scores of girls more attractive than any of those mentioned above. Such faces as theirs might grace a millinery store window, for the pouting, petulant mouths, the vacuous eyes and the eyebrows that might have been put on with shoe blacking are such stuff as clothes dummies are made of. Such attributes also suggest an I. Q. of 79.

No, if Lana, Betty and Dorothy are representative of the best in American beauty, I am in favor of more homely girls.

WHO ARE SOME HOLLYWOOD beauties by my standards? Ingrid Bergman, for one, and Barbara Bel Geddes, for another, if she can keep the eyebrow-pluckers and goo-dispensers from working over her face until it looks like a death mask.

Ella Raines and Lili Palmer have great beauty but often it is hidden behind a talc veneer. Deborah Kerr, as she appeared in "The Adventuress" and "Colonel Blimp," has one of the most fascinating faces I've seen on the screen, but when she appeared in "The Hucksters" she had been coiffured and worked over until it seemed cracks would appear in her makeup when she smiled.

And for attractiveness that time does not wither I give you Helen Hayes, not a great beauty but possessed of a charm and magnetism that puts every Hollywood cutie to shame, even though Helen is in her late 40's.

EXCERPTS FROM AN ACCOUNT of the 1947 Japanese Derby as reported in a Tokyo newspaper: "The first four passed the first and second corner in the same order, leaving the others far behind in a hopeless conflict. The first and all simultaneously stretched their pace immediately after they rushed past the back stretch. Hatamitsuru and Pickwell closed up Brownie, when Hisatoman all of a sudden dashing forward out of the delayed group followed the pre-runners.

"East Parade was still taking the lead, until when at the third corner Brand Papoose spurted from behind, caught up and run in parallel with the first. But the first two failed to stay and began to fade away in no time. At the fourth corner Brownie pressed up rushly like a shooting-star, came second side by side with Tokitsukaze, both closely tracing Matsumidori. On the home stretch a close battle was fought... Matsumidori frenzily darted to the goal and won the coveted victory."

Abbott and Costello may find in that the material for a new "Who's on First?" routine.

YOU'LL PROBABLY BE SURPRISED to learn that the familiar song, "Happy Birthday to You," is a copyrighted, royalty-producing tune instead of being rooted in antiquity like "Auld Lang Syne" and "London Bridge Is Falling Down." It was written in the 1890's by two sisters, Patty Smith Hill and Mildred J. Hill, who operated a kindergarten in Louisville, Ky. Their song was copyrighted in 1893, with a renewal in 1921. This will expire next year, but copyrights on certain arrangements continue until 1965.

Present recipient of the royalties is Jessica Hill, a third sister, for whom the American Society of Composers, Authors & Publishers collects from radio, night clubs and the movies. Western Union silenced its singing messenger boys with birthday messages some years ago because of the royalties.

All this came to light recently when a New York musical show, which was about to open, incorporated the tune in one of its scenes. When the producers learned about the copyright restrictions, they had a tune specially written called "Here's a Happy Birthday."

IN CONNECTION WITH the advertising for Cecil B. DeMille's latest picture, Gary Cooper's grim countenance has looked out of the pages of thousands of newspapers and magazines holding Paulette Goddard and two shootin' irons in a position from which he wouldn't be able to hit the less narrow side of a garage door, unless maybe he flung Paulette at it.

How now, Mynheer DeMille, about a rough, tough picture about a brawling steel town? About men with biceps of iron and hearts of oak, but how they could love! About the women who waited for them and cooked corned beef and cabbage for them! About fearless Fanny Fogarty who shocked the town by taking a bubble bath in a crucible!

A full-fashioned, 51-gauge tale torn from the heart of America! An authentic human document scrawl with picturesque characters and dripping with gooey technicolor!

Its title: "Forever Ambridge."

As To Pictures

By TRUMAN TWILL

If we were an author and a man with a camera wanted to take a picture that would attract the suckers' attention, we could think of some dandies.

Millions would stare at a picture of Twitter Twill eating breakfast with his skinny shanks exposed, his thinning hair standing up like a fright wig and egg on his unshaven chin. That would be an eye-stopper.

Much could be said for a picture showing the subject peering from underneath a shed where he had gone to look for bantam eggs and just happened to be there when the man with the camera arrived to boost the publicity buildup.

These possible poses come to mind because a young author named Truman Capote has had his picture taken lying indolently on a sofa with his head turned toward the camera, looking a great deal like a fawn startled in the forest by one of those hidden-camera setups—a fawn with mussed hair, a sulky expression, a checkered vest and a bow tie. "This is Truman Capote" says the accompanying blurb, and it's timely reassurance, because it might be any one of a number of things.

Maybe the next time the man with a camera takes a picture of this fellow they will have him lying in a bathtub full of water, face down. That would be Truman Capote too, and if you doubt it who do you think you are? You've got to make up your mind. It either has to be Truman Capote or something else.

Has anyone ever thought of taking a picture of an author through a hole in a fence? That would be a real come-on. Everybody likes to see what's on the other side of a fence with a hole in it. It isn't our idea to criticize what the photographers do—only to say that their subjects should maintain their dignity.

When characters bearing the name of Truman are involved in this nonsense our interest is aroused. That's the name we love. That's why it hurts if the men with cameras catch the president of the United States with a silly smile on his face when the situation calls for a solemn expression.

That's why we wince when a fellow called Truman Capote has his picture taken looking like a startled fawn. Because who knows—someday Truman Twill might be sneaked upon by a man with a camera, and the man might have some preconceived ideas about what people Truman should look like.

TO HONOR DR. UPHAM

By The Associated Press

OXFORD, O., Jan. 23—The new classroom and laboratory building being erected on the Miami university campus will be named Upham hall in honor of Dr. Alfred H. Upham, who died in 1945 shortly before his planned retirement as president of the university.

WER BILL IS T BY SMITH

I ... the provisions in the bill ...relate to the further politi- ...ation, on the national level. ...e business of producing and ...ting electric power.

...hat madness possesses us ...akers to presume to obligate ...axpayers of the nation for a ... of 78 years for the develop- ... of hydroelectric power or ...tion or anything else" To ... degree of anomalous think- ...ave we come when members ...in their places and solemnly ... assertions, as was done yes- ...y that the term 'reasonable' ...sed in connection with the ...nistration of the provision of ...aw relating to the time limit ...mortizing the cost of reclama- ...projects is synonymous with ...ity" and that the 78-year period now provided in the bill seeks to do nothing more than obviate the existing 'infinity' provision in the law.

"It seems to me that when rationalization has reached a point like this, the last hope for appeal to reason has completely vanished.

"This body has no right, morally or legally, to obligate the future taxpayers of this nation, as this bill provides. It has only the might to do so.

"This proposal would give point to the New Deal's recommendation for erecting a multiplicity of TVA's all over the country, the darling plan of all who regard liberty as an anachroism and who would make the good old USA completely over into the Russian model.

"The TVA is held up as a paragon of political achievement. Gustave Le Bon, one of the outstanding students of socialism, pointed out that facts, however presented, can make no impression upon a socialist mentality because it is a stereotyped mentality. We see this illustrated by the devotees of TVAism in their persistent and dogmatic claim that the TVA is a self-liquidating project and that it furnishes electric current to the nation at a lower rate than is generally charged by private concerns and implying that it has effected a reduction in the general cost of living when there is not a scintilla of evidence to support any of these claims.

"The fact that the general accounting office and the private accounting firm that check the TVA's books have never approved the respective allocations to power development and flood control which the TVA heirarchy itself made and upon which rates are based makes no impression upon the minds of its defenders, except to elicit approval of such allocations. The artificially fixed low interest rate which the TVA pays on the loans extended to it by the taxpayers under compulsion has no effect upon their thinking. Nor is there any evidence to substantiate the persistent claim being made that the philosophy back of TVAism has been influential in lowering electric rates generally in the sense of being a net gain to the economy as a whole, that is in raising the general standard of living. But there is abundant evidence to the contrary.

"Lenin said, 'Communism means the power of the Soviets, plus electrification.'

"We can well adapt this statement to our own situation by saying, 'Communism means the power of votes, plus electrification.'"

His evangelistic work in Russia during the reign of the Czar and his 13 visits to "modern" Russia provided Dr. Eddy with a background of material upon which he based his address, "What Shall We Do About Russia?" before the Y's Men's club.

Cites Four Revolutions

Introduced by E. N. Hale as "one of the world's greatest men of today" Dr. Eddy stated that four revolutions have had definite bearing on the course of global affairs, naming the English uprising of 1688, the American Revolution of 1776, the French revolt in 1789 and the Russian revolution of 30 years ago. He went on to say that the original Russian upsurge was founded on high ideals, but that these ideals have now fallen by the wayside under a state policy that "the end justifies the means".

Don Yoder was introduced as a new member of the club and announcement was made of the appointments of Joe Yannitel as second vice president and Robert Klatt to the board of directors.

Scouts on 35-Mile Hike To Win Badges

Hiking in winter is a mighty tough job but four Marion boys were forced to pass up offers of rides recently in order to qualify for their Boy Scout merit badges. Richard Edler, Clarence Allen, Eddie Collins and Roger Bastian, all members of Troop 39 sponsored by the Emmanuel Baptist church completed the required 35 miles by hiking to Upper Sandusky and back.

Along the route, the boys stopped at Forest Glen Park, one of the roadside parks and were conducted on a tour of inspection through the Wyandot Popcorn Co. When they arrived at Upper Sandusky, they obtained permission from the police there to camp over night in the shelter house at Harrison-Smith park. Before returning home they also visited the Upper Sandusky courthouse museum. Plans were made to hike through southern Ohio, Kentucky and West Virginia during the summer vacation this year.

45 ARRESTED IN TRAFFIC CHECKUP

State highway patrolmen, in staging a 36-hour traffic check for overweight trucks and trucks with mechanical deficiencies at Hessville on Route 20 Wednesday and Thursday, arrested 45 drivers for overweight loads and made 50 corrections on trucks that were not properly loaded. One hundred and twenty-five truck drivers were warned for operating with faulty brakes, lights or other equipment of the 1,200 trucks checked, the highway patrol said.

Participating in the check were patrol sub-station units from Marion, Perrysburg, Findlay and Bellevue, under supervision of Lieutenant S. D. Augenstein of the Findlay station, who is in charge of the Marion district.

All drivers who had overloaded trucks were fined $25 and costs each by Mayor H. Whitcomb of Fremont, while those with faulty equipment received warnings to have their trucks put in first class shape, the highway report said.

2 Drivers Fined In Morrow, Wyandot Co.

Two persons were arrested for minor infractions of the law last night, state highway police reported.

John Goff of near Lexington was fined $10 and costs by Mayor R. Bennington of Mt. Gilead yesterday at 4:30 p. m. He was taken before Mayor Bennington after being arrested by state patrolmen on a charge of passing a school bus on route 42 while the bus was discharging passengers.

In one other arrest made by the patrol, James Handy of Indianapolis was taken before Mayor E. Naus of Upper Sandusky on a charge of breaking the speed limit on route 30 and was fined $5 and costs.

SAYS OHIO KEEPS UP WITH MENTALLY ILL

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 23—The director of Ohio's welfare institutions, faced with public reaction to increasing numbers of sex crimes, declared today the welfare department is "keeping even" with mentally ill patients by "overcrowding" state hospitals.

But, said Welfare Director Charles L. Sherwood, state institutions are far behind in caring for the mentally deficient and epileptics.

In an interview, Sherwood challenge the exactitude of statements that specified numbers of psychopaths are roaming the streets of Ohio cities because of lack of institutional facilities.

"Several days ago, a Cleveland probate judge declared more than 600 psychopaths roamed Cleveland streets because of lack of space in state hospitals.

Total of Cases

"The judge merely took the total number of cases up before probate court," said Sherwood, "The great bulk of those cases involves mentally deficient and epileptic individuals."

And, Director Sherwood continued, 26 per cent of the persons committed to state hospitals as mentally ill are seniles—aged persons long since past psychiatric aid.

Sherwood, also chairman of the penal study committee of the post-war program commission, agreed yesterday to appoint a subcommittee to study the relation of municipal courts to the state in the handling of sex offenders.

This action, the committee disclosed followed public reaction to an increasing number of sex crimes, including the stabbing of eight-year-old Sheila Ann Tuley at Cleveland New Year's day.

State Sen. Jack A. Persky and Judge Perry Jackson, both of Cleveland, appeared before the penal committee to urge such a study, while state Sen. William Tyrell told the committee Dayton citizens also were incensed by sex crime increases.

Victims Must Appear

Under the law, persons committing only sex misdemeanors must be freed unless their victims appear against them. Sex victims, by and large, are apprehensive of public embarrassment and, where possible, attempt to evade such appearances.

Many indignant Ohioans have asserted persons committing sexual misdemeanors without penalties often end by committing major offenses, rape slayings and the like. These citizens want all sex offenders or alleged offenders given psychiatric examination and confinement.

However, explained Sherwood, many sex offenders are legally sane. They could not, even with examination, be committed as insane persons. And, misdemeanors, he pointed out, are basically the responsibility of the local level of government.

NAM ENDORSES AID TO EUROPE

Agrees with Objectives, but Insists It Be Run as "Cold Economics."

By International News Service

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23 — The National Association of Manufacturers endorsed the "objectives" of the Marshall plan today but insisted that the program be conditioned to operate as "cold economics rather than as cold war."

Curtis E. Calder, chairman of the Electric Bond and Share Co., laid down for the state foreign relations committee two new "conditions" the NAM proposes for addition to the foreign aid legislation.

Calder said they included "no economic aid" for western Europe if:

▶Confiscatory taxes are imposed upon U. S. exports—an apparent slap at Britain's tax on U. S. movies.

▶Property of U. S. nationals has been confiscated or expropriated without "prompt, adequate and effective compensation."

▶Recipient countries launch nationalization programs or projects which "have the effect of destroying or impairing private competitive enterprise."

The NAM also opposed Secretary of State Marshall's demand for control over all matters relating to foreign policy in the ERP program.

It held that ERP has the best chance of success if it is "kept a business concern."

Charges Scare Tactics

Sen. Jenner (R-Ind.) charged that Marshall is trying to "frighten" the American people into support for ERP by withholding until this week secret documents showing that Russia and Hitler Germany had agreed to split up Europe for themselves.

Jenner noted that the documents released by the state department had been in possession of the American and British governments since before April 1945. He said both governments agreed to publish the secret agreements in June 1946.

Jenner charged that this information was not used by U. S. officials, including the secretary of state and the President, through five international conferences since capture of the secret documents.

Jenner contended the information "could have forced Russia to come to terms immediately and effect a world peace."

1st Committee Witness

The NAM spokesman was the first of four witnesses before the senate committee. Others scheduled included Prof. Calvin B. Hoover, of Duke university, a member of the Harriman committee; William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, and Paul Hoffman, chairman of the committee for economic development, president of the Studebaker Corp., and another Harriman committeeman.

Calder said the NAM favors the recovery program but declined to say whether it supports the six billion, 800 million dollars asked for its first 15 months. He said this will depend upon administration, whether a single chief or a board heads the project, and upon the "safeguarding conditions" which may be provided.

The NAM called for an independent agency or board to head up the plan as against Marshall's plea for a single administrator. It urged that ERP be given "business methods and economic freedom."

Among the conditions proposed by Calder were requirements for parity on business treatment, including freedom of access for press and business representatives; priority of aid to private enterprises rather than foreign governments, and a warning abroad that the U. S. opposes cartels.

Report Stassen To Run in Ohio

To Seek Presidential Delegates in Fourteenth District.

By The Associated Press

AKRON, O., Jan. 23—Harold E. Stassen will announce his intention to contend for presidential delegates in the Ohio primaries "possibly within the next 48 hours," a supporter said today.

This comment came from Ray Finley, an Akron attorney and onetime college classmate of the avowed candidate for the Republican presidential nomination.

Finley has been selected by Stassen's Washington secretary, Earl Hart, to line up a list of potential delegates in the 14th congressional district.

At the same time, Finley said Stassen would enter his name on ballots in these districts: The three in Cleveland, Toledo, Youngstown, Dayton, East Liverpool, Steubenville "and possibly, Springfield."

Springfield is the district of Clarence Brown, Ohio G.O.P. national committeeman and campaign manager of Ohio's Republican choice for president: Senator Robert A. Taft.

In Cleveland, Hart said he probably will not have a release ready until Monday, but Finley said he expected to have petitions drawn up some time today.

The following names, Finley said, already have been selected for the ballot in the Fourteenth district (Summit, Lorain, Medina and Portage counties):

Delegates at large: Carrington T. Marshall, Zanesville, former chief justice of the Ohio supreme court.

Alternate at large: Rufus Day Jr., Cleveland, an attorney.

Delegates: Dr. Roy V. Sherman, Akron, head of the political science department, University of Akron; Charles A. Mosher, Oberlin, business manager of the Oberlin News Tribune.

Alternates:

John R. Kumpel, Akron, director of the CIO-United Rubber Workers workmen's compensation division; Richard P. MacDermott, Wellington, O.

Finley said a second choice to Stassen would probably be selected today.

CHURCHILL

has now become the accepted policy of the English-speaking world."

Bevin opened the two-day debate yesterday with the labor government's sharpest attack yet on Russia. He proposed a Democratic union of western Europe, establishing what some quarters here saw as a major shift in British foreign policy.

Deputy Conservative Leader Anthony Eden, who was Churchill's foreign secretary, was quick to approve the broad base of Bevin's proposal. But he left it to Churchill to say specifically along what lines the idea must be developed to get his party's support.

Churchill drew a laugh from the house, and from Princess Elizabeth, who was attending, when he declared:

"We would be well advised to leave the past to history, especially as I propose to write that history myself."

Churchill deplored Britain's decision, announced Wednesday, to scrap four battleships, a battle cruiser, seven other cruisers and a number of smaller craft.

Fears Consequence

"I have no doubt this unwise and improvident step will have its effect upon our influence and authority in international discussions," he told the house.

He commended the government for its policy in Greece, where he said the leftist guerrillas fighting the Greek army are "aided and fermented by Communist intrigues and incursions from Albania and Bulgaria, inspired by Soviet Russia."

The former prime minister said "a great change has taken place" in the American opinion on Greece.

"It was only four years ago that the views which we held so strongly about Greece were subject to widespread disapproval throughout the United States," he said. "Now the U. S. has entirely come around to our views and are acting in exactly the same upright and disinterested spirit. My hope is that, having put their hands to the plough, the U. S. will not look back."

CARHART

264 East Church street to get his automobile, which he had left there earlier in the day for lubrication and washing.

Passersby immediately at the scene called a physician, and an employe of the service station called an ambulance. Mr. Carhart was pronounced dead upon arrival at City hospital. Cause of death was given as a heart attack. He had been in ill health and had been hospitalized for a time previously for treatment of leukemia, a rare blood disease, but he had been feeling much better lately and had planned to visit the law office yesterday afternoon to attend to a matter of business, a member of the family stated.

Born in Delaware County

Mr. Carhart was born Dec. 16, 1879, at Galena, Delaware county, a son of Lucius A. and Mary Amanda Torry Carhart, natives of Delaware county. April 26, 1905, he married Edythe Rhodes who died July 21, 1911. His marriage to Lauretta M. Irey was Aug. 19, 1913. A resident of Marion since 1896, he came here from Galena. He attended Delaware county schools, then went to high school in Marion and upon graduation here he entered Ohio Wesleyan university at Delaware. Later, he was graduated from Ohio Northern university at Ada with a bachelor of arts degree. He served for a time as deputy clerk of courts of Marion county before beginning the practice of law here in 1904. From 1916 to 1920 he held the office of city solicitor.

The following year, he formed a law partnership with the late Fred W. Warner, and this partnership continued until 1931 when Ralph E. Carhart, son of Mr. Carhart, joined the firm, which then became Carhart, Warner and Carhart. This continued as the firm name until the death of Mr. Warner in 1938. Since that time the firm has been known as Carhart & Carhart. Mr. Carhart continued in the active practice of law until Sept. 1, last year. At that time another son, Dwight L. Carhart, became a member of the firm.

SAYS CARRIERS MUST FIGHT WAGE DEMANDS

By The United Press

CHICAGO, Jan. 23—William T. Faricy, president of the Association of American Railroads, said today that the roads must "fight to a finish" against wage demands by engineers, firemen and switchmen who threaten a nationwide rail strike Feb. 1.

Faricy, addressing the mid-west shippers advisory board, said that a third increase in railroad wages "would deal a severe blow to the railroads and the nation."

He said that the 100,000 engineers, firemen and switchmen have threatened to strike Feb. 1 to support demands for a 30 per cent wage boost.

Faricy said that "it should be obvious to everybody" that the railroads could not give in to the wage demands of the three unions "without laying themselves open to a third round of wage increases."

He said that if the three unions received a better wage settlement than the others which already have setled, the others would make further demands.

Faricy said that the engineer, switchmen and firemen represented only 10 per cent of all railroad employes.

"That is why the railroads simply have to fight this case to a finish," he said.

FLOOD GATES WILL BE TRIED

Experiment Authorized in Effort To Prevent Floods in LaRue.

Walter W. Johnson, county engineer, announced today that the commissioners have approved an estimate for replacing a bridge with corrugated pipe on county road 14-C, about three-quarters of a mile northwest of LaRue.

The plan calls for the removal of a 10-foot steel bridge and the placing of two 48-inch diameter corrugated pipes, with stone head-walls, and installation of two flood gates on the west side.

The idea of the flood gates has been talked at LaRue for about a year and Harry Boyd, who lives nearby, pioneered the solicitation of funds from various citizens to pay for the gates, providing the county would pay for the installation of the corrugated pipes.

Theory of Operation

Backers of the plan contend that as the river rises the gates will close, thereby stopping the waters from passing through the culverts. At present the back water passes through the bridge, and after reaching a level of the ridge between this watershed and the next, the water then flows south, passing at the rear of the LaRue school, down through the village and lumber yard to the river, causing a considerable damage to property.

Engineers in the county office, however, believe that if a hard rain occurred in Hardin county these gates would hold the water from going through the village but at the same time, if a rain occurred in the 282-acre area northwest of town, without a doubt some of this water would still flow through the village, since it could not pass through the closed flood gates.

The county is willing to replace the bridge with the pipes and will assume responsibility that the area of the two 48-inch pipes will amply take care of the water run-off from the 282 acres which drain through this water way. County officials will not however, assume any responsibility for the workability of the flood gates to be attached, Mr. Johnson says. He pointed out that the experiment can do no harm, in any event, and may benefit in some degree.

Bridge in Poor Condition

The concrete abutments under the present bridge are in poor condition and would have to be replaced within the next few years. The commissioners felt they could cooperate on this project since it eliminates a bridge and will increase the roadway width.

Mr. Johnson said the material is being ordered and he hopes to start the installation in about 45 days.

The cost of the flood gates will be paid for by 20 interested parties and amounts to $312 and the county will pay the estimated balance of $1,396.

COLD

a company spokesman said. The curtailment of these 178 industries in Ohio releases 65 million cubic feet per day additional for homes.

Commercial Users

All commercial users of gas, such as stores, hotels, business buildings, restaurants, bakeries and dry cleaning establishments, are being asked to reduce their requirements as much as possible. The gas company is drawing on its propane plants, relief wells and storage wells in an effort to meet the great demand. "If each of our customers, numbering nearly one-half million, will help by saving a little gas, the accumulated saving will be of tremendous help," a company spokesman said.

Overnight lows in Ohio ranged between six below zero at Washington C. H. in central Ohio to seven above at Cincinnati in the southwestern corner. Cleveland had even zero and expected two below tonight, while Akron reported one below with an expected high for the day of no more than ten.

Snow flurries yesterday left highways slippery in spots south and east including Mt. Gilead, Salem, Alliance, Circleville, Wilmington and Georgetown, the state highway department reported.

40 Below in Minnesota

The north central region of the nation bore the brunt of the biting cold. Temperatures in some parts of the frigid belt tumbled to near 40 degrees below zero. The mercury failed to rise above the zero mark all day Yesterday in parts of Minnesota and the Dakotas. There were widespread reports of fuel shortages as the cold intensified.

The lowest readings in the area engulfed by sub-zero weather from Nebraska to northern Missouri and northern Illinois were in the Red River valley of the north.

The thermometer in that Minnesota-North Dakota region plummeted to from 30 to 40 degrees below.

The sweeping cold air is producing snow along the eastern slopes of the Rockies and in parts of Tennessee, Kentucky and Virginia. Falls in middle and western Tennessee measured from two to three inches.

While the steady southward flow of the cold air across the great lakes piled snow along the south shores of the lakes, heavy snow fell in a narrow band in northern Indiana, extending from near Gary to Michigan City. The weather bureau reported an unofficial fall of 14 inches of new snow.

Federal forecaster H. L. Jacobson in Chicago said the current cold wave, from present indications, will swing south and eastward and start to moderate somewhat during the next two days. He forecast rising temperatures in the western plains states tomorrow and in the north central area Sunday.

About 8,200,000 people in the United States are employed in the motor vehicle industry and its auxiliary services.

AN RETURN WAR DEAD

t Preparation for Sending 20,000 to U. S. from Italy.

By The Associated Press

NAPLES, Jan. 23—Two ships from ...rica were unloaded recently ...aples. One, widely heralded, ...ed food for Italians from ...ica's friendship trains.

...e other, almost, unnoticed ...ed caskets for the return to ... country of American war ... now lying beneath the ...ed white crosses of 13 cemeteries in Italy.

...cated at Paestum, Naples, ...ma, Marzanello Nuova, San ...ello, Anzio, Avellino, Tarquinia, Follonica, Vada, Castelmentino, Pietramala and Mirano, these war cemeteries hold ... remains of 33,000 American ...iers.

To Start In April

April, the U. S. government ... begin preparations to return ...oximately 20,000 war dead to ... families in America. It is ...ected that the families of the ...aining 13,000 will choose to ... them re-interred in the ...erican permanent national ...eteries in Italy. The locations ...hese have not yet been offi...y designated.

...e duty of preparing and ...sporting the bodies from Italy to families in America and the preparation of the American permanent national cemeteries here has been entrusted to the American graves registration service, which is performing similar services in other parts of the world where American armies fought.

In Italy, the graves registration service includes about 200 American Army officers and soldiers, aided by American and Italian technicians. Part of their task is recovery of isolated American remains along the long route that victorious American Armies followed in the Italian campaign.

Under an agreement between the American and Italian governments, this group will continue its work until completion, scheduled for 1949. Most of the employes of graves registration are Italians, many of whom have been caring for American war cemeteries since they were established.

Routes Mapped

Remains of American war dead will be shipped through Naples from cemeteries in southern Italy and through Leghorn (Livorno) from the cemeteries in northern Italy.

The American graves registration service reports that the Italian people are showing sympathy and cooperation in its work. Col. W. W. Watson, commanding officer of graves registration, said this has been demonstrated in every community and added that without such cooperation the bodies of many American war dead would not have been recovered.

Increase Seen In Earthquakes

Scientist Predicts More for Eastern United States and Canada.

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

NEW YORK, Jan. 23—An increasing number of earthquakes in the northeastern United States and southeastern Canada is predicted by L. Don Leet, professor of seismology at Harvard.

In a book, "Causes of Catastrophe," published today, Dr. Leet defines the area as New England, New York, eastern Pennsylvania, northern New Jersey, a large area of Canada north of Lake Ontrio and the St. Lawrence river to its mouth, and Nova Scotia.

The reasons are seven widespread earthquakes since 1904 in this great area. The region went for a century without a quake of importance after the Boston earthquake of 1755. In 1860 and again in 1870 Canadian shocks were felt over 700,000 to 1,000,000 square miles. There were no more general earthquakes in the region until 1904.

Dr. Leet says the present epoch of increasing quakes probably has not yet passed a climax. He describes planes of weakness, lines where the earth can slip, one side of the line in one direction, the other in a different direction.

These weaknesses follow the St. Lawrence river, also a line parallel and inland from the Bay of Fundy; another follows Lake Champlain. Planes of probable weakness are known around New York City, through Connecticut and elsewhere in New England. Some of the weak spot are very old and seem very deep.

Dr. Leet says there is a steady shoving from below all through this region, due to the earth's crust readjusting its pressures.

He says that an argument claiming the northeast United States is safe from earthquake disaster because it is not a region of new and growing mountains, does not agree with history.

This continent's greatest known quake, at New Madrid in Missouri, in 1811, and the Charleston earthquake in 1866 were not in new mountain areas.

Whatsoever Circle Holds Work Meeting

An all-day work meeting was held by the Whatsoever circle of the King's Daughters Tuesday in the recreation room of the First Presbyterian church. The members rolled bandages and made aprons. Mrs. James R. Folsom, leader, presided for the meeting which she opened by reading the message from the state president, Mrs. W. E. Miley, appearing in The Ohio Voice. Mrs. E. M. Breithaupt conducted the devotions, choosing the Twenty-Fourth Psalm which was followed by prayer. Mrs. Frank Glosser was in charge of the luncheon. The next meeting will be held in the evening, Feb. 2, with Mrs. Glosser and Mrs. James H. Eymon as hostesses at the home of the former at 1185 East Center street.

GRANGE TO INSTALL

Installation of the newly elected officers of Progressive Grange will be held at a meeting Tuesday night in the Grange hall. A covered dish supper at 7 o'clock will precede the installation ceremonies and meeting. Milan Gorby is master of the Grange.

Workers for World Security Grow Rapidly in Cleveland

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Jan. 23—A campaign for union of the world under one government is booming in this city with an energy almost atomic.

Two hundred thousand citizens have signed pledges to help bring about this union. Many say half a million eventually will sign.

The movement, called Workers for World Security, is sponsored by an amazing variety of the most prominent citizens — Republicans and Democrats, Catholic, Jewish and Protestant church leaders, heads of the CIO, AFL and the Railroad Brotherhoods, educators, businessmen and industrialists, men and women in all of Cleveland's social strata.

Old residents say never before in time of peace has such a cross-section of the city's groups joined in one cause.

Hundreds of campaigners are talking thousands of their fellow Clevelanders into an international viewpoint—on street corners, in industrial plants, in offices, schools, churches and colleges.

They carry 40-name petitions. Each signer is supposed to take a petition and talk 40 more persons into the idea.

Petitions to Washington

Batches of the petitions will be presented from time to time to the President and other Washington officials. These officials will be assured of the signers' support if they will work for world federation through the United Nations or other channels of government and diplomacy.

The simplicity of the idea, says its sponsors, is what accounts for its phenomenal success.

The members must agree on only one point: That they want a world government of some kind because they are convinced that is the only way to avoid an atomic war. They would retain self government for each nation in matters not international in scope.

U. S. Judge Wilkin is chairman of the movement. The governor of Ohio, Thomas J. Herbert, is an ardent supporter. So is the former governor, Frank J. Lausche. The mayor of Cleveland, Thomas A. Burke, proclaimed the first week in December as Workers for World Security, week.

Launched Nov. 11

When the campaign was launched at student rallies on Armistice day, Albert Einstein sent a message to be broadcast, saying that world government is needed "in the near future if unspeakable disaster for all is to be avoided."

A Catholic priest and a Jewish Rabbi have spoken on the same radio program. N. R. Howard, editor of the Cleveland News, spoke to packed pews at a Sunday morning service at St. Paul's Episcopal church. (Editors of all three of the city's newspapers are sponsors.)

Even the police force has been circulating petitions. Many schools have made classroom projects of the campaign. Industrial plants have organized their entire personnel into committees to secure signatures and explain the purpose of the drive.

The Cleveland sponsors have no intention of promoting the movement in other cities, feeling that it is the kind of thing which will flourish best if initiated locally. But they have replied to thousands of inquiries from all over the nation.

X-RAY CHECKS WORKERS HERE

Mobile Unit Examines Employes at Pollak Steel Plant.

A mobile unit from the Ohio department of health visited the Pollak Steel Co. plant Wednesday afternoon affording free chest X-ray service to plant personnel and officials.

Company officials reported approximately 90 per cent of the employes took advantage of the free tuberculosis check up conducted in the mobile unit from 1 to 5:30 p. m. Officials indicated satisfaction with the high percentage of employes taking the examination and with the excellent service rendered by the unit.

Personnel were X-rayed at the rate of 125 per hour by a crew of two technicians and one supervisor handling the mobile equipment. No employe was kept away from his job for more than 10 minutes during the process.

Pollak Steel is the first plant in Marion county to take advantage of the statewide tuberculosis case finding program now being conducted in industry by the tuberculosis division of the state health department. The mobile unit came to Marion at the request of company officials.

Confidential reports on the results of the X-rays will be forwarded through the Marion county health department to each person examined. In cases where incidence of the affliction is revealed, a county health nurse will visit the individual to explain the report in detail.

Purpose of the X-ray project is to uncover previously unsuspected cases of tuberculosis, health authorities said. Tuberculosis is a communicable disease, symptoms of which are frequently negligible, but is most easily cured when discovered in the early stages, it was explained.

The X-ray definitely will reveal the presence of tuberculosis in the early stages and in apparently healthy persons. Health authorities indicated they hoped that the survey at Pollak Steel will lend impetus to the industrial program expected to be under way in full by June of this year. Any plant desiring to schedule this service may contact the Marion county health department.

Emmanuel Church Class Entertained

A meeting of the Young Married People's class of Emmanuel Baptist church was held last week at the James Sanderson home at 392 Avondale avenue, with William A. Hough as guest speaker. Edward Murphy opened the meeting with prayer. Before his message, Mr. Hough read part of the fourth chapter of First Peter. Discussion was on holding meetings of the class every two months, and plans were made for visitation of members absent from Sunday school for a time. Mrs. Warren Schaber was appointed chairman of the visitation committee. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Sanderson and daughter. Warren Schaber offered the closing prayer

Sugar Shows Indication Being a Check Against Decay.

ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
ited Press Science Reporter

W YORK, Jan. 23—A rare ...ar shows some indication ...g able to stop tooth decay ...be tested in the next few ...s in rat experiments at the ...ard School of Dental Medi... Cambridge, Mass., by Dr. ... H. Shaw.

...e sugar is glyceric aldehyde, ...h is so rare that only about ...pounds of it are known to ... anywhere in the world, says Robert C. Hockett, scientific ...or of sugar research founda...

...e cause of tooth decay is not ...m, but evidence indicates that ...big factor may be the action ...outh acids on the teeth.

...test-tube experiments at ...western University Dental ...l, Dr. Leonard S. Fosdick ...d that the rare sugar to a ... extent prevented the fer...ation of common sugar by ...ria which usually are present ...e mouth.

...e work with rats will show whether the sugar, added to the normal diet, has any effect on tooth decay. If it works in the animals, it might work for humans. Some other chemicals tested by Dr. Fosdick also will be put to the acid-forming test.

Adding the rare sugar to ordinary sugar, if it is effective, would not entirely stop tooth decay, Dr. Hockett said. The rate of acid production from potatoes, flour, dark bread, honey, and sugar, is almost identical and it would be hard to add the rare sugar to other foods.

Results of the rat studies may be known by May, but then many careful tests will be necessary before even small amounts of the inhibitor can be used. Production of the rare sugar, however, could be expanded relatively easily, Dr. Hockett said.

The search for a tooth decay inhibitor has been under way for years. Very careful studies, covering a period of years, are being carried on to determine whether addition of small amounts of fluorine to drinking water will reduce tooth decay.

Vickery, American Red Cross Claims Service Field Director of the Veterans Administration branch office in Cleveland. Wyandot and Morrow county representatives also will attend the meeting.

Your Good Health

By DR. HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Common Causes of Insomnia

Many people find it difficult to get a good night's rest. Either they have trouble getting to sleep in the first place, or else after a few hours' slumber they awaken to spend the rest of the night tossing and turning.

Sleeplessness or insomnia is just a symptom. Hence, before much can be done to help the situation, a thorough study by a physician is needed to find the cause. Once the cause is found, the physician is in a position to take the proper measures to correct the condition.

There is little doubt that the most common cause of sleeplessness is worry. It is not always easy to eliminate the cause of worry and it does little good to tell a person to stop worrying when he has something to worry about. Nonetheless, worry—even in a good cause—can become a habit. With cooperation between doctor and patient; it is possible to cultivate a more serene frame of mind in regard to the numberless little anxieties which so many people seem to take to bed with them.

Of course, sleeplessness may be due to a number of simple things, such as keeping the bedroom too warm, not having enough fresh air in the room, or having too many or too few covers on the bed. Overeating late at night is one of the commonest causes of insomnia in the middle-aged. Sleeping in a room in which mirrors reflect lights into the eyes, or sleeping in surroundings that are noisy, are other factors.

Then, too, illness of one type or another may contribute to sleeplessness because these illnesses are accompanied by pain or other symptoms.

In many instances in which there is temporary nervousness or discomfort, the doctor may suggest the use of sleeping drugs. These drugs, used wisely under the direction of the physician, are an important aid to the patient. They are often used before operations to save the patient from a night of worry and fear.

Just as these drugs can be of great benefit they can be equally harmful when they are abused. In fact, taken too frequently, or in too large amounts, they may be extremely dangerous. It has been found that people who have acquired the habit of taking these preparations often go to sleep just as well when a harmless pill is substituted for the sleeping drug.

So, if you are having trouble getting to sleep, consult your physician. If he thinks sleep-inducing pills are necessary to tide you over, he will prescribe the proper ones in the right dose; otherwise, leave them alone.

Questions and Answers

D. I.: Is a fallen bladder a serious condition in a woman of sixty?

Answer: Such a condition, while not serious, is usually responsible for many symptoms. As a rule, operation is necessary.

GALION NOTES RISE IN UNEMPLOYMENT

Special to The Star

GALION, Jan. 23—With men being called back to work next Monday by one of Galion's factories, the employment situation looks brighter, although relief rolls in Galion have been on the increase of about 20 per cent in the past month, it was learned today.

Curtailment in production, due to the shortage of steel and scarcity of material, has caused some Galion factories to lay off about 300 to 350 employes in the past month.

At Hercules Steel Products Corporation some 80 men have been temporarily laid off during the past month because of steel shortage. About 30 of this number have been asked to report for work Monday when the factory will again open its vault department, a spokesman for the company said today.

Perfection Steel Body Company has been the hardest hit of the Galion factories, where about 170 employes had to be laid off.

Two overcoat companies also have had to curtail production and cut down employment because the popular demand for gabardine in men's and women's coats has caused a scarcity of this material.

Meanwhile, Galion's relief rolls have been on the increase in the past three months, it was learned today. Many of the relief cases have been young people. In several cases veterans of the war have had to ask for relief. The cases have not always been the same ones, most people being able to get another job after a month or so.

The U. S. production of aluminum was increased during World War II to about six times the pre-war capacity.

Letters from Our Readers

HIGH-PRICED BALONEY

Editor of The Star: Well ain't we got fun in Washington, and I wonder why its so cold, with all that hot air coming out of our capital. It seems we want to hang some scandal on some stock-buyers now, but they will drop that like a hot pancake soon. It's getting too close to home.

Is it any wonder a talk of third party is in the wind; and maybe a lot of us will take a shot at it. Can't be any worse than things are now—rents out of bound, food too high for the Americans that kept the Red White and Blue firm on American soil to afford to buy. Still they chirp away in Washington on how to correct it, but we still pay a big price for baloney, both from our grocer, and the baloney we get from Washington. You know this is election year.

We don't get to keep what we work for. Why? Because we have to pay for the vast amount of food and machinery and needs of life for those countries that forced bloodshed on the U. S. A. We are ready and willing to help those that stood by us, but it gripes the American to think he has to feed a degenerated bunch of slums that cast living souls into fires, that made them dig their own graves, and were shot down to fill the graves they dug, were driven into sheds less fit for hogs, were gassed and the sheds set afire.

Now that is all changed; it's "the poor fellows are starving; give, give, give, so they can fatten up and try again." Russia is a good example. Who saved their hide? Now they want ours, and while we pollywog in Washington, and fail to prepare our airforce with plenty of planes made for speed and distant flying, we will be just as we were at Pearl Harbor—caught with our plants down. We will admit a Jap doesn't look smart, but he was a lot smarter than our top brass hats in Washington.

So we ask our leaders in Washington to turn your faces to the people. Give us a break—take those soldiers out of those lousy rat traps called trailers; put them in decent homes; give us food at prices we can afford to pay; bring rent within the reach of those that fought on the battlefields, and those of us who bought the bonds that we might win. If you want the heart of America behind you, show us some heartfelt thanks by reducing living and rents. You will avoid strikes and troubles so needless. If you just wake up, Washington.

MORE MONEY FOR PRODUCERS!

A convenience of locker service which farmers particularly appreciate is that of being able to slaughter when the animal is ready or the cost of feed dictates, rather than waiting for cold weather or until it would be possible to dispose of fresh meat on a favorable basis. Freezing and storing fresh meats or produce preserves it more safely than does canning. There is no possibility of spoilage while food stuffs are stored for the recommended length of time. All meats, fruits and vegetables are carefully wrapped or packaged and then completely frozen before placed in lockers.

PILES
ARE NEVER "MILD"
DANGER IN NEGLECT

No one should ever think of piles (hemorrhoids) as a "mild" disorder.

Although they may seem a "mild" ailment, especially when not giving pain or inconvenience, piles are in fact tumor formations without tendency to heal themselves; instead, they are likely, if neglected to keep increasing in size, involving more and more of the recial area.

Even a so-called "mild" case may be expected to undermine one's health, by inviting, predisposing to or aggravating other ailments, such as: indigestion, biliousness, stomach trouble, constipation, headaches pain in back and down the legs, secondary anemia with its rundown tired feeling and general nervous irritability.

Removal of piles is the only permanent relief — written guarantee. My method produces little or no discomfort, does not require the use of knife or drugs, and seldom is the patient required to lose any time from work or other duties.

Why not call and learn of this method? The consultation is free. No Appointment Needed.

U.S. BASEBALL INFLUENCE TO EXTEND INTO SOUTH AMERICA

Sports Shorts

By BILL DIEM
Marion Star Sports Editor

WHILE waiting for the start of the St. Mary-Columbus Rosary basketball game they were officiating Dec. 23, Bob Minard, Y. M. C. A. athletic director, and Merle J. Thomas of Prospect were discussing independent basketball in the Marion area. Both men have a keen interest in the success of the independent quintets—Bob set up the two Y. M. C. A. basketball leagues, and Merle was prominent in building the Prospect basketball league and plays on its best team, the All-Stars. Thomas wondered with what sort of response the independent aggregations would greet an invitational tournament, and an idea was born . . . Today, Thomas announced that the Prospect basketball league has completed plans for an invitational tournament to be held in the Prospect High school gym Feb. 27-28, March 5-6, and March 12-13.

Twelve of the top independent teams in the area, the first twelve that answer the call, will complete in a single elimination tournament for a first prize of $200, a runner-up prize of $50 and a show prize of $30. Prize money comes from the $30 fee charged each team entering.

Any profits from the tournament will go to the activities fund of the Prospect High school.

Thomas, acting as tournament manager, has mailed out invitations to a number of top-flight teams in the area, including the Hensel Brothers, Schlairet Transfer, McMillen Feeds, Universal Cooler, Green Camp K. of P., and the Marion Merchants, all in the Y. M. C. A. play, and the Caledonia Merchants, LaRue Indians, Salem Ex-Hi's, Carey Bursons, Ostrander Foods, Claridon Ex-Hi's, Marseilles Legion, Delaware Screw Products, and the Waldo Vets—an imposing array of cage outfits.

College rules will govern play in the tourney and no team can have a roster of more than ten.

THE MARION ANGELS should feel right at home when they meet the Centerville quintet Saturday night on the Claridon High school court. For two years, the Centerville team has held the state Sunday School championship . . . Their game will follow a clash between the Claridon Ex-Hi's and the Marion V. F. W. . . . Coach Chuck (Gabriel) Murray will probably start Max Roseberry and Tom Moran as guards, Bob Winterstellar at center and Carl Harbolt and Don Cook as forwards for the Angels. Other cherubim include Lloyd Coder, Joe Roseberry, Kenneth Jones, Bobby Joe Smith, Gene Shellhorn, and Charley Reid. The Angels bowed to Centerville, 53-51, earlier in the season. The Sunday School champs will be placing a 47-game win streak on the line.

FOUR TEAMS are tied for the lead in the Hardin county basketball race—Mt. Victory, Ridgeway, Forest, and McGuffey—all with a three win, one-loss record. Dola and Roundhead are in the middle with a 2-2 record and Dunkirk and Alger bring up the rear with no wins.

BOB BROWN, 6-foot-5 Miami university center is twelfth among the nation's leading college scorers in spite of an average that has slipped this year because of a toe injury. He has scored 264 points in 17 games, an average of 15.5 a game. Last season he made 437 in 22 games.

Minor League's Bob Finch To Head South As Ambassador

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 23—The United States' sphere of influence—in baseball—is about to extend into South America.

That was indicated today when George M. Trautman, boss of the state-side minor loops, said he would send an official observer next month to Panama, Venezula, Puerto Rico and Colombia to study the situation.

Bob Finch, publicity director for the National Association of Professional Baseball leagues, and Trautman's right bower, has been named ambassador, and he's making the trip at the invitation of the Latin American groups.

Finch said he would stop off at Mexico City for a chat with Mexican Baseball Commissioner Alejandro Aquilar Reyes, who is about to shake hands with American Commissioner A. B. Chandler, a gesture expected to put a halt to controversial either-way over-the-border talent raids.

To Visit Havana

The golden-tongued Finch also will visit Havana, where the Cuban league already has the blessing of the U. S. association, and where American minor leaguers—some 30 of them—play with their club's permission during the winter season.

Trautman said the Latin American groups had eliminated ineligible players from their leagues and desired to gain recognition from the association. This might lead to such close relationship that they, like the Cuban circuit, could use some lend-lease playing talent from the American minors during the winter, he explained.

The minor league chief said all restrictions against American players appearing in Cuba had been lifted by the association, except that they must obtain permission of their club. Most of those playing in the island circuit were invited.

Extend Courtesies

Trautman indicated all courtesies now extended to the Cuban league would be passed on to South American countries should Finch find conditions favorable.

Finch said that after observing conditions in the South American countries for several weeks, he planned to call a conference of representatives of the interested groups in Havana, sometime in March, to discuss details of cooperation and supervision.

OLYMPIC HOCKEY DISPUTE RAGES ON

By The Associated Press

ABOARD THE QUEEN MARY, enroute to England, by telephone to London, Jan. 23—Hopes of settling the United States' Olympic hockey controversy appear no brighter after a conference of the two central figures in the dispute—Avery Brundage and Walter Brown.

Brundage, president of the U. S. Olympic committee, and Brown, vice president of the Amateur Hockey Association talked the matter over aboard ship yesterday.

Brundage said afterwards the two-hour session was "amicable," but added he thought a solution was impossible.

The A.H.A. team has been recognized as the official U. S. entry in the winter games by the Swiss Olympic organizing committee and the International Hockey Federation. The U. S. Olympic committee has sent across another team and has threatened to withdraw completely from the games if the A.H.A. aggregation is permitted to compete.

"Unfortunately this has gotten beyond a mere hockey controversy," Brundage stated after his conference with Brown. "It is a challenge against the organization of the Olympic games themselves."

Brown said he told Brundage he (Brudage) had "some fellows on his hockey team who could not take the Olympic oath, not as we see it anyway." Previously the A.H.A. executive had declared every member of his squad could take the oath.

The case will be laid before the executive committee of the International Olympic committee next week at St. Moritz, Switzerland, where the games will open Jan. 30.

GREEN BAY PACKERS SIGN INDIANA'S HOWARD BROWN

By International News Service

GREEN BAY, Wis., Jan. 23—More strength was added today to the Green Bay Packers' already sturdy line with the signing of Howard Brown, of Dayton, O., voted the most valuable player on the Indiana university football squad the last two seasons.

Brown a 215-pound guard and captain of the Hoosier eleven, is the second outstanding lineman from the Big Nine conference to be signed by the Packers in the last two weeks.

Previously enrolled was Larry Olsonoski, Minnesota guard.

Brown returned to the Indiana team in 1945 after war service in Europe. In both 1946 and 1947 he was runner-up for the most valuable player award in the Big Nine.

STONE'S, MARTEL, COOLER WIN AT Y

Three games were played last night in the Y.M.C.A. Thursday league as the second round of play got underway. Stone's, winner of the first round, continued unbeaten as they walloped the Sally Ann team, 53-23. Busler was hot for the Stone's combine as he flipped 17 counters to pace his team to victory. Leeth racked eight for Sally Ann, in pacing the losers.

In edging the Commercial five by a 51-50 margin, the Martel courtsters had to come from behind in the last two minutes. With the score at 50-49 against them, Cotsmire, who was high for Martel with 16 tallies, had two tries at the foul circle and capitalized on both attempts to shade Commercial by one point. Frank netted 19 counters to lead the Commercial aggregate.

Pollak's Steelers continued to have a hard time, as the Cooler team left them cold on the short end of a 51-33 count. Wynn was the big gun for the Cooler team with 16 points while Pollak was led by Rissler with 10 markers.

PEGGY KIRK STILL LEADS GOLF TOURNEY

By The Associated Press

BELLEAIR, Fla., Jan. 23 — Peggy Kirk continued to lead the way with a five-under-par—149 as the $3,000 Belleview-Biltmore Women's Open golf tournament moved into the third day of its four 18-hole rounds today.

Miss Kirk, Findlay, O., amateur, had a 74 yesterday to better by a stroke her first sub-par round Wednesday. National amateur champion Louise Suggs of Atlanta, cut two strokes off par for a 75 and a 36-hole total of 152.

Finch Says America Has Nearly Reached Saturation Point in Baseball Clubs

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 23—America, for the present, has just about reached the saturation point in baseball clubs and leagues.

So says Bob Finch, publicity chief of the National Association of Professional Baseball leagues, who addressed some 300 delegates from 57 minor loops at yesterday's session of the five-day rules discussion conference called by president George M. Trautman.

"Back in 1944 we had 12 minor leagues," Finch said. "That jumped to 42 in 1945, to 52 in 1946, and to 57 in 1947. Several others are in the process of formation, but if they don't get in before Feb. 1, we just can't accept 'em.

"Practically all the new leagues, in some cases all the clubs, are seeking working agreements with big league teams. But the big league clubs are saying 'not now, we have enough.'"

He also said baseball was the only activity in America today enjoying "unlimited public confidence." Finch predicted attendance, which soared to 60,000,000 in 1947, would reach 100,000,000 within the next few years.

Earlier, Bill Veeck, militant prexy of the Cleveland Indians, outlined the promotional stunts which helped send the Tribe's gate over a record 1,500,000 last year. Some of the stunts were termed "undignified" by other American leaguers, but Veeck said:

"I can't afford to be dignified. If I don't draw a lot of money at the gate I'll have to go back to work."

The conference ends tonight with Branch Rickey, president of the Brooklyn Dodgers, addressing a banquet.

Jacobs Denies He Plans To Retire

By The United Press

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Jan. 23—Boxing promoter Mike Jacobs, head of New York's 20th Century Sporting club, flatly denied published reports today that he was planning to retire and said he would continue in the fight game "indefinitely."

"I am not going to retire," said the 67-year-old promoter who has been recuperating from a recent illness at his Normandy Isle home. But he added that he intended to spend "as much time here as possible."

"I've decided I can go along this way," said Jacobs, who emphasized that his health had improved during his long Florida vacation.

Jacobs said he planned to return to New York in the spring before heavyweight champion Joe Louis defends his crown for the second time against Jersey Joe Walcott.

Walcott has not signed for the fight but Jacobs said he thought final arrangements would be completed this month and that it would be held in Yankee stadium before a crowd that would "pay away over a million" dollars.

Beau Jack Favored 3-2 Over Bratton Tonight

By International News Service

CHICAGO, Jan. 23 — Former world's lightweight champion Beau Jack of Augusta, Ga., and New York starts his comeback campaign in earnest tonight with a 10-round feature assignment against slick Johnny Bratton at Chicago Stadium.

The Beau, twice sidelined by mishaps to a trick knee, has been declared in top shape for tonight's affair, and local bookmakers have named him a firm 3 to 2 favorite to overcome Bratton, whose many fistic accomplishments do not include a knockout punch.

Fire protection authorities say that it is a matter of statistical record that 90 per cent of all fires are preventable.

Bonito, a junior from Wesleyville, Pa., defeated his 136-pound opponents in both the Findlay and Michigan State matches. Bowling Green tied Findlay, 18-18 and lost to the Spartan junior varsity 22-6.

KENYON CENTER SCORES

GAMBIER, Jan. 23—Eppa Rixey, Kenyon's pace-setting 6'6" center, leads the individual scoring list in Ohio intercollegiate basketball, and ranks high on national lists, Ep made 33 points in Kenyon's triumph over Oberlin Wednesday and 36 in the win over Case, bringing his total to 202, or an average of 25.3 points per game.

After the heartening victories in their last two games against Case (76-61), and Oberlin (71-65), the Kenyon Lords are aiming for their third consecutive win when they leave the hill to tangle with Wooster Saturday. The last two games give Kenyon a current record of five wins and three losses. Wooster has won seven out of 10 starts.

Saturday the swimming team will try for its fourth consecutive win when it meets Ohio Wesleyan at Shaffer pool on the Kenyon campus. The Kenyon swimmers have outsplashed Ohio university, Baldwin Wallace, and Case Tech so far this season with a total of 181 points against 42 for the opposing teams. Coach Bob Parmelee can look with some degree of optimism to the Ohio Relays and the Ohio conference meets on Feb. 28 and March 3 respectively.

REDSKINS TAKE REST

OXFORD, O., Jan. 23—Miami university's basketball squad will resume workouts Monday after a complete layoff which Coach W. J. (Blue) Foster hopes will put his crew back in top physical and mental shape.

With semester final examinations coming up, Foster canceled all workouts of the week. He said he hoped the rest from basketball would counteract staleness as well as give several injured men on the squad a chance to recover before the next game, Western Michigan college comes to Oxford Jan. 31.

The Miami coach also hinted the next month might bring some changes in both lineup and strategy in the team which so far has won nine and lost eight. Howard Sanders, 6-foot-4 guard who is third high scorer, had seen little action in the last two games, while Foster has commended the steady improvement of Charles (Sonny) Tiberghein, a small but deceptive guard; Bill DuMont, 6 foot 3 inch forward-center, and Bob Dinneen, sharpshooting forward.

RED'S ROSTER HITS 29 AS 7 SIGN UP

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, Jan. 23 — The Cincinnati Reds today had 29 player contracts for the 1948 season cached away in the front office safe but several familiar names were still missing from the payroll.

Among those still unsigned are shortstop Eddie Miller, who this week said he figured the team would be "lucky to battle for a tie for last place" in criticizing team management and several players; Ted Kluszewski, first base star for Memphis in 1947, and those two veteran pitchers, Bucky Walters and Johnny Vander Meer.

The following agreed to terms yesterday:

Harry Gumpert, righthanded relief pitcher, who won 10, lost 10 in 46 game appearances last season.

Southpaw Kent Peterson, 6-13 record in 1947—his first in professional baseball.

Bob Usher, outfielder, optioned last season to Rochester of the International league.

Al Mele, lefthanded hitting outfielder, a .315 hitter for Syracuse of the International league last year.

Catcher Ferrell Anderson, acquired in the draft from Fort Worth of the Texas league.

Infielder Benny Bientara, and J. S. Adcock, first baseman from Columbia of the South Atlantic league.

3 Indians Selected On All-Star Team

By The United Press

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Jan. 23—The Sporting News Weekly announced today that three Cleveland Indians had won places on the 1947 All-Star team selected by members of the Baseball Writers Association of America.

The Indians named were shortstop Lou Boudreau, the team's player manager, pitcher Bob Feller, and second baseman Joe Gordon. Feller was held over from the 1946 team but it was the first time for Boudreau.

Joe DiMaggio of the New York Yankees was named for the seventh time. Hurler Hugh Blackwell of the Cincinnati Reds was the most popular choice and appeared on 281 of 292 ballots.

Death Valley Scotty's Mine Worked Out

By The United Press

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 23 — "Death Valley" Scotty found today that for the first time in 40 years his mysterious gold mine had run dry.

Albert M. Johnson, 75, multi-millionaire Chicago insurance broker who gave Scotty all the gold for his fabulous escapades, failed to mention him in his will for probate yesterday.

During his lifetime Johnston once estimated that he gave Scotty, whose real name is Walter Scott, $1,000,000. He also paid for the $2,000,000 Death Valley castle in which Scotty lived for years.

"I get a kick out of watching him spend it," he explained.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

NEW YORK, Jan. 23—Prediction: Some time before the next All-America conference meeting, Branch Rickey will come up with a supporter who has plenty of scratch and is willing to invest it in the Brooklyn All-America conference football club . . . During his fight-to-a-finish oration about the National league at the Carl Voyles signing ceremony Wednesday, Branch took time out to remark that he'd have a statement within a few days on the subject of ownership . . . Rickey is a stubborn gent and one who isn't likely to talk fight unless he means it . . . Neither is he a guy who'd sink a lot of his own dough into a proposition that is more likely to lose than gain money . . . Ebbets Field only holds about 35,000 customers and at current prices it probably would take a sellout for every game just to break even.

JUST TO LIGHTEN his solemn press conference, Rickey broke into the proceedings to call Barney Shotton across the room to announce: "This is the head coach in case anything happens to Voyles." . . . And when Sol Straus got up at the boxing writers dinner, which produced everything but fisticuffs, someone started to hand him the microphone . . . "I don't want a mike," shouted Sol. "Mike's in Miami, anyway."

Bucyrus and Edison Juniors in Cage Wins

Bucyrus Junior High, paced by Smith with 18 tallies, trounced the Vernon Junior High cagers last night on the Bucyrus hardwood, 33-20, while Edison hung it on the St. Mary youngsters 25-22.

Bender and Thatcher were up for the Vernon cagers as they each poured nine points through the meshes, while Edington led Edison's juniors with 10 counters.

St. Mary's top scorers were Tennerelo and Wensinger who each dropped six markers.

FIRES ROUT 2 FAMILIES

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Jan. 23—Three blazes in the Cleveland area forced two families from their homes yesterday and caused damage estimated at more than $30,000. The Gottlieb drug supply warehouse at Lorain was razed with loss estimated at $20,000; the home of Mrs. Assunta Caruso, 60, was destroyed in Cuyahoga Falls, and the home of Mrs. Martha Miller in Youngstown was leveled.

LAWRENCE TECH STAR LEADS CAGE SCORERS

Miami's Bob Brown Stands 12th in College Race.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Jan. 23—Norman Hankins, of Lawrence (Mich) Tech, has taken over the individual scoring leadership among major collegiate basketball teams with an average of 23.8 points for 13 games.

Figures disclosed today by the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau show Hankins has rimmed 149 field goals and 59 free throws for 357 points through games of Jan. 17. He tops Tony Lavelli of Yale by a narrow margin. Lavelli has an average of 23.2 with 113 doubledeckers and 75 charity tosses for 301 points in 13 games.

Twelfth leading scorer in the national race is Miami (O) university's brilliant pivotman, Bob Brown, who had 253 tallies through January 17.

Two other Ohions, Bob Conroy of Bowling Green State's powerhouse, and Dick Schittker, Ohio State star, ranked second and third respectively, behind St. Louis' Macauley as field goal percentage leaders, based on a minium 30 attempts.

Conroy was 20 percentage points behind Maculey with a .461 average from 25 successful goals in 54 attempts, while Schnittker has a .455 average, with 56 goals in 123 tries. Conroy, however, had participated in 19 games to Schnittker's 10.

Top man for personal fouls committed was Cincinnati's Richter, whose violations were called 40 times in nine games for a 4.44 personal foul average per game.

Life Insurance Men Hear Columbus Speaker

James A. Preston of Columbus, was a guest speaker at the monthly luncheon meeting of the Marion Association of Life Underwriters Thursday at the Y. M. C. A.

Mr. Preston, salesmanager of the Columbus Mutual Life Insurance Co., spoke on the theme, "Are You As Young Financially As You Are in Years?" He emphasized that it is a wonderful thing to be old in years and also enjoy normal health, but pointed out that it is equally disastrous to be old in years and find one's self with a young man's savings.

A report was given on the membership drive with figures showing that half of the quota set for the year had been reached.

Love's Perilous Path

By ADELE GARRISON

"YES, we have a code knock," I told Mr. "K."

"Then, will you please give it?" he asked, and I went up to the door of our apartment, and gave the knock which would tell Katharine that I was outside.

She was at the door in two seconds, and peered out at me through the aperture of the night chain.

"If I'm ever glad to see you!" she exclaimed. "There were some knocks a minute or two ago, but I did not recognize them, so I didn't answer them."

"You will the next time," I told her as she undid the chain, and Dicky, Mr. "K." and I passed through the door. Then the FBI man spoke to Dicky.

"Is it all right if I bring the guards in?" he asked.

"By all means," my husband said heartily. "The sooner we get our fences fixed up, the better."

"That's what I think," Mr. "K." said. Then he stepped back into the corridor, and we heard him speaking to the guards.

"You two men from 'the Chief' come inside," he said. "And you, from Mr. Veritzen, please remain here until the other two men come out again. Then Mr. Olsen wishes you to report to him."

"Very well, sir," I heard the man reply, and then the men from my father's staff came into the room. It was but the matter of a minute to arrange signaling knocks, and then they retreated to the corridor again, and Katharine looked the questions she was too tactful to voice.

"We have but two minutes," Dicky said. "If you'll lend us your ears for that time, we'll try to put you wise."

"I'll get Mary," Katharine said, skimming toward the door as she spoke. "I left her mounting guard over Faith's door, but I suppose it will be safe now to have her come back here."

"Perfectly safe," Dicky said, "But tell her to hurry."

"She will," Katharine assured him, and, indeed, in another two seconds she had brought Mary back with her.

"The little girl is sound asleep?" Mr. "K." queried.

"Unless there is some unusual noise, there is no possibility of her awakening," Katharine said.

"But please talk in two tones, nevertheless," the FBI man said.

"Look here!" Dicky said. "I'm not needed here. Madge has all the dope, and can spill it better than I can. Suppose I go down and mount guard outside Faith's door? Then you close the other doors, and be sure she can't hear you."

He was at the door as he spoke, and I am not sure that he heard Mr. "K.'s" commending comment.

"A most excellent idea," the FBI man said. "Now, ladies, I'm going to 'curl up with a good book' in the corner over here, while Mrs. Graham brings you up to date. But make haste, please."

Katharine and Mary sat down on chairs drawn close together, and I took one facing them.

"There is sudden danger," I said "Father is sending the armored cars, one to take Mr. 'K.', Dicky and me to the Underwoods—I believe—although I'm not sure, the other to take away two bound and blindfolded thugs who tried to get past Mr. 'K' tonight up at the Veritzens—and didn't succeed.

"One thing I must impress upon you," I said. "Don't go outside of this suite until Dicky comes back from the Underwoods. He will tell you my father's latest directions then I haven't the slightest inkling as to what this all means, but I can tell you the amazing message which Mr. 'K.' brought just now."

I rapidly sketched my father's request for samples of Olga's handwriting, and two dozen of her personal stationery with her royal crest upon them. When I had finished, the eyes of both women were bright with excitement, for they are as thrilled over melodramatic intrigue as I am.

"Somebody's going to forge social notes from my revered mamma-in-law with Grandpa Spencer's permission," Mary said sapiently. "If that wouldn't freeze the whiskers right off Tabby or Tom! But do you mean to tell me, my daddy-in-law fell for that stunt?"

New York Stock Quotations

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Jan. 23—Modest recoveries prevailed in today's stock market although many leaders exhibited considerable indifference.

Some short covering and other bidding by professinals was based on the thought that the lengthy declined called for a technical comeback even if only temporary.

The pace slowed appreciably after a fairly active start but gains of fractions to a point or so were well distributed near midday.

Ahead most of the time were U. S. Steel, Youngstown Sheet, Republic Steel, General Motors, Chrysler, International Harvester, Douglas Aircraft, Anaconda, Du Pont, Allied Chemical, American Woolen, United Air Lines, Plymouth Oil, Mission Corp., Standard Oil (NJ), Southern Pacific, Southern Railway and N. Y. Central.

Exceptions were Twentieth Century-Fox and Warner Bros., which touched new lows for the past year: American Tobacco "B," Chesapeake & Ohio, Dow Chemical and Transcontinental & Western Air.

Rabbit Trapping Program Successful

The rabbit trapping program recently instituted by the Boy Scouts of Marion, in which rabbits are trapped within the city for release in the country by O. H. Neimeyer, of Prospect, game protector, has been termed a success so far.

However, Mr. Neimeyer has announced that two of the approximately 100 humane traps placed out have disappeared. These traps are property of the conservation department of the State of Ohio, Mr. Neimeyer said, and he wants to remind the public that anyone found molesting the traps or any other state property are subject to a prison sentence and a $500 fine.

About a dozen rabbits have been caught since the traps were set up the first week in January, the Marion Scout office reported. Mr. Neimeyer, himself, takes the rabbits out into the country in the traps and then releases them in various places, and it is expected that more will be caught after the cold spell has passed.

People are being asked to cooperate with the Boy Scouts in this program. For any information regarding the traps or for any request to have the traps moved, people are asked to call Mr. Neimeyer at Prospect or the Boy Scout office here.
